NEW JERSEY WILL OFFER REWARD OF $25,000 FOR CAPTURE OF LINDBERGH BABY SLAYERS

SENATE BREAKS SHORT FILIBUSTER TO PASS TARIFFS

Tydings Introduces Only Three of 500 Proposed Amendments, Each Meeting Defeat by Two-to-One Vote on Floor.

LUMBER, COPPER DUTIES RETAINED

Norris Hurls Oft-Proposed and Long Disputed Export Debenture Into Fight as Rider.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The senate wore down the first filibuster threat against the billion-dollar revenue bill tonight to approve the lumber and copper import levies—last of the four tariff items in the measure.

The import taxes carried by comfortable margins as the tariff coalition completed the job it began in preserving the oil and coal duties in the bill. The lumber vote was 36 to 24; that on copper 42 to 25.

Senator Tydings, democrat, Maryland, opponent of the tariff provisions, carried out his threat early in the night to seek 500 tariff amendments to the tax measure, but after three proposals were swept aside by two-to-one votes he gave up the job, temporarily, at least.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, another determined foe of the tariff items, picked up the fight, however, as he offered the oft-proposed export debenture plan of farm relief as a "rider" to the revenue bill.

Norris withheld his controversial farm aid proposal to permit the roll call on the copper duty. The outlook for a vote on the export debenture and the result of that roll call is doubtful. President Hoover has opposed this system of farm relief. Previously Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, had proposed the export debenture, the equalization fee and an allotment farm relief plan as a "rider" to the bill.

The lumber tax was put at $3 a thousand feet. There is now a tariff of $1 a thousand feet. The copper import levy was fixed at 4 cents a pound. There is now no tariff on copper.

Hardwood flooring was exempted from the lumber duty, since it carries now an 8 per cent tax.

Almost the same combination of republicans and democrats lined up for the lumber and copper tariffs as stood together to keep the oil and coal import taxes.

The senate virtually got over the tariff hump in the tax fight with the two roll calls. At adjournment tonight the billion-dollar compromise bill stood in the same form in which it was reported by the finance committee.

After the Norris export debenture contest the fight over the excise rates and the admissions tax opens. There the bi-party coalition supporting the compromise measure meets one of its toughest tests.

After Tydings gave up his struggle and the lumber and copper duties were voted, senate leaders were willing to call it a night, although they had been prepared to stay on indefinitely to meet the Tydings threat.

The break in the contest over the tariff encouraged the leadership to

Film World's Peter Pan Renounces Make-Believe

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 23.—(AP)—Betty Bronson, the former Peter Pan of the film world, has renounced the make-believe sets in Hollywood for the more real rustic atmosphere of the western North Carolina mountins.

Miss Bronson, now Mrs. Ludwig Lauerhass, arrived here yesterday with her husband and announced she would make her home in a hotel here until a home site can be found.

Lauerhass, president of an Asheville bond company, said: "Asheville is my home and we expect to stay here the greater part of our time. Mrs. Lauerhass has no idea of appearing in any picture in the near future."

HOUSE DEFEATS BEER PROPOSAL BY 228-169 VOTE

First Record Test Ballot on Prohi Law Since 1919 Finds House Still Dry by Margin of 59.

BY CHARLES M. McCANN.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(UP) The house of representatives today defeated by 228 to 169 a proposal to legalize 2.75 per cent beer, and thereby indicated that the commonly reported "wet" trend in politics has not reached the point where legislators are ready to join it.

It was the first straight "wet" vote in the house since 1919—when the Volstead act put the teeth into the eighteenth amendment.

Coming as it did just before the national presidential nominating conventions at Chicago, the vote was awaited with more than usual interest. Any defections of importance from the "dry" side would have been regarded as politically significant, but there were none.

The vote was on a motion to discharge the ways and means committee from its consideration of the Hull-O'Connor bill to legalize beer containing 2.75 per cent of alcohol by weight and tax it at 3 cents a pint.

Petition Used.

To force a vote, it was necessary under the newly liberalized house rules that 145 members petition for the committee's discharge. This was done, and the motion came up at opening time today.

Sponsors of the motion took a high plane in their promotion of it. It was called a revenue-raising measure, one that would solve the treasury's revenue problems by raising $500,000,000 at 3 cents a pint. This would represent 16,666,666,666 2-3 (B) pints of beer a year, or enough to keep a good many bartenders busy.

Opponents denounced it as the entering wedge of the saloon, a measure that would undermine the constitution.

Actually it was a straight vote on beer or no beer, intended to put members on record for or against prohibition in this election year.

Only 70 Present.

There were but 70 odd members on the floor at prayer time. A point of no quorum brought members flocking, and chattering, from the house office building across capitol hill, and soon there was such an anticipatory buzz that no one was quite sure what was happening.

Representative John J. O'Connor, democrat, New York, had charge of debate for the motion to discharge the committee, as co-author of the beer bill with Representative William E. Hull, republican, Illinois. Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, a ranking charman of the ways and means committee, handled debate for the opposition as leader in the committee whose discharge was sought. Under the rules 10 minutes was allotted to each side.

Representative Thomas L. Blanton, democrat, Texas, an extreme dry, tried to halt the debate with a point of order. The rules forbade two motions to discharge, on the same subject, during one session of congress, he pleaded. He argued that the recent motion to force from committee the Beck-Linthicum bill for resubmission of the eighteenth amendment was re-

SENATOR BORAH PLANS TO IGNORE G.O.P. CONVENTION

Idahoan Continues at Odds With Hoover; Pair Fail To Harmonize Since Administration Began.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The powerful voice and influence of William E. Borah, of Idaho, which played such a potent part in the 1928 campaign of Herbert Hoover, will be missing at next month's republican convention for the renomination of the president.

Senator Borah's decision to take no part in the national conclave of the republicans is final—whether congress is in session or not—and the reasons for it have led to considerable speculation in political circles.

The Idahoan himself has no comment to make on the subject. It is understood his determination has been made known to President Hoover in response to direct inquiry.

As for the election campaign itself, Borah is silent but his intimates are convinced the chances are very doubtful that he will go on the hustings.

Borah not only helped to frame the platform at the last party convention but he took a leading role in the ensuing presidential campaign. However, the president and the Idaho senator have not harmonized on a major issue since the administration began.

Only once before has Borah remained away from the national convention—in 1924 when Calvin Coolidge was nominated. He then definitely rejected an offer for the vice presidency but stood by the ticket in the campaign.

With Senator Norris, of Nebraska, another independent republican leader, in open opposition to the president there continues to be persistent speculation over a third party, but that is all there is to it so far and nothing on the surface.

In the face of this backsliding, President Hoover has marched straight along to certain renomination, with scores more than the number necessary to nominate already pledged to him.

The democratic picture is, of course, far less clean cut, but energized by a "fighting bid" for the nomination made last night in Atlanta by Franklin D. Roosevelt. His band wagon moves ahead this week in quest of the convention majority which in the past has usually meant victory.

The effects of the New York governor's demand for a more equitable distribution of wealth, his warning that "millions in want will not stand by silently forever while the things to satisfy their needs are within easy reach," and his attack on Wall Street can not be fully pieced together yet. However, it was unquestionably a

Hawley Is Beaten In Oregon Primary

PORTLAND, Ore., May 23.—(AP)—A recount of ballots cast in Oregon's presidential primary today gave James W. Mott, wet, state corporation commissioner, an apparent victory by 86 votes over the veteran representative Willis C. Hawley, joint author of the Hawley-Smoot tariff, a dry, in a neck-and-neck contest for the republican nomination from the first Oregon district. The count stood: Hawley, 30,734; Mott, 30,820.

In addition to this contest, another nearly as close was being waged in the state-at-large between Walter Gleason, a wet, and Elton Watkins, a dry, for the democratic senatorial nomination.

Gleason had a lead of 443 votes with 31 precincts unaccounted for. His total was 21,423, and Watkins had 20,980.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt won the state's support in his race for the democratic nomination for president. In 1,690 precincts he polled 46,257 votes. His nearest opponent, Governor William H. Murray, of Oklahoma, got 10,910.

Seabury Probers Bare Walker-Sherwood Link

Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, has expressed himself as ready to face Samuel Seabury, chief counsel of the Hofstadter legislative committee, at the hearing in New York city Wednesday or Thursday. Walker's appearance as a witness before Seabury is regarded as the climax of the investigator's expose of graft and corruption in municipal government circles of the metropolis. Three views of New York's dapper mayor, and Seabury, are above.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—United States Attorney George Z. Medalie late today refused to confirm or deny a report at the federal building that a government inquiry was being made into the income of Mayor James J. Walker for the years 1928, 1929, 1930 and 1931.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—James J. Walker again bore the brunt of the Hofstadter legislative investigation today when Russell T. Sherwood, runaway accountant, was identified as the man who transacted his financial affairs for six years.

In the last public session before the mayor opens his defense on Wednesday the committee was also told Walker was paid $15,028 in all for "special legal services"—$3,028 of it after he took office—by a theater corporation.

Counsel Samuel Seabury put in evidence 49 letters and ushered a file of bank officials across the platform to show that Sherwood previous to his disappearance in August, 1931, represented Mayor Walker at a New York bank and was acknowledged by the mayor as his fiscal agent.

John Edward Barrett, a former employe of the American Trust Company, identified a transcript which counsel Seabury contended the mayor borrowed $10,000 in May, 1927, and a letter was read which indicated that

TAX LEAGUE HITS COUNTY 'WASTE'

Fulton Could Save $700,000 Instead of $90,000, Organization Contends.

Asserting that it was "immaterial" whether credit for the announced plan for "payless vacations" for county employes was given to it or to the Fulton county commission, the Taxpayers' League Monday issued a statement declaring that "the time has come when our people must have relief from the imposition of this county government."

Referring to the statement of Commissioner Walter B. Stewart that the commission hopes to effect a saving of $90,000 during the remainder of 1932, the league statement pointed out:

"We invite the attention of the commissioners to figures published recently showing that the county government can save approximately $700,000 a year in salaries alone. This is very different from the $90,000 suggested in Commissioner Stewart's statement."

The league's attitude was contained in the following statement:

"It is immaterial whether Com-

HOOVER TO CONFER WITH PUBLISHERS

White House Parley Is Planned to Seek Means of Restoring Confidence.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—President Hoover today perfected plans to confer with newspaper publishers Wednesday night in search of new means to encourage the country.

Through the 30 publishers invited here, President Hoover hopes to mass public opinion for "co-operative community" support of the economic and legislative courses that he considers point most directly to the way from trial and uncertainty.

That's the way it was expressed in quarters close to him, along with an emphasis that partisan advantage will not be sought. The publishers' names were withheld.

RUSSELL REFUSES DOBBS CLEMENCY, ASKED BY BOARD

Commutation Recommendation Not Concurred in, Former Alderman Must Serve Term on Gang.

STATE DROPS CASE AGAINST ROUNTREE

The bribery indictment against ex-Councilman J. W. Rountree has been nol prossed before Judge Virlyn B. Moore in Fulton superior court, it was learned Monday. Rountree was charged with accepting $100 from the Campbell Coal Company, but he contended that it was a loan. Rountree repaid the $100 to the coal company more than a month before he was indicted, it was said.

The indictment was nol prossed on motion by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, this action winding up the only case against the former councilman. The indictment was nol prossed last Thursday, but this did not become known until Monday, when a report to that effect was admitted at the office of the solicitor-general.

Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. Monday declined to concur in a recommendation of the state prison commission that the 12 months' prison sentence imposed on W. Guy Dobbs, former Atlanta alderman, be commuted to a fine of $1,000. In the same order refusing clemency, the chief executive granted a stay of execution for 60 days "in view of the unusual conditions existing in the family life of the defendant."

Dobbs, convicted in city hall graft cases, had been reprieved four times, twice at the request of the prison commission before it recommended clemency and twice by Governor Russell, who found himself unable to arrange a hearing with attorneys representing the defendant and state. His fourth reprieve expired Sunday.

The former alderman and mayor pro tem., now living in Miami, Fla., was convicted of receiving two bribes, one of $50 and one of $100, to influence his vote while a member of the board of firemasters of city council. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and serve a 12 months' sentence.

After final court action, Dobbs made a proposal to the prison commission that a fine of $1,000 be substituted for the chain gang sentence. This proposal met the approval of the prison commission.

Declining to interfere, the governor said in his official order:

"Whereas, the above stated application for clemency has been pending for some time, either before the prison commission or in the executive department. The applicant has produced a strong showing for clemency, including recommendations of the grand jury that indicted him and the trial jury which found the verdict of guilty, and the prison commission has recommended that clemency be extended. However, the trial judge, who presided when the case was before the lower courts, has made no recommen-

Troops To Dislodge Veterans From Train

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 23.—(AP) Adjutant General Carlos E. Black, of the Illinois National Guard, announced tonight he would send troops within a few hours to East St. Louis, Ill., where 300 war veterans marching to Washington, D. C., from Portland, Ore., seized a freight train.

General Black said he had decided to call out the troops after a long distance conversation with Acting Governor Fred E. Sterling at his home in Rockford.

Reports here were that 30 freight cars of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad were being held by the veterans near East St. Louis because the railroad refused free transportation to Cincinnati, Ohio. The cars were reported to be loaded with perishable foodstuffs.

Mrs. Norton Rebukes Texas Representative

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP) Goaded by a filibuster, Representative Mary T. Norton today called Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, an obstructionist in an impassioned speech in the house.

Mrs. Norton also chided the house itself for inattention to District of Columbia legislation.

"I hope the people of the District of Columbia will soon have a vote," she said. "But until they do their government is our responsibility."

NAZIS PREDICT EARLY MEETING ON REPARATIONS

German Party Spokesmen Declare Trying Problem Will Be Discussed Next Week.

BERLIN, May 23.—(AP)—Nationalist spokesmen reported today that German political and industrial leaders planned to meet friends of Edouard Herriot, of France, and certain French financiers at Luxembourg next week in an attempt to devise an intermediate solution of the reparations problem on neutral soil.

M. Herriot was mentioned as he is expected to be the principal member of the new French government that will be formed when the Paris chamber of deputies has reconvened.

STRONGER DICTATORSHIP IS FORECAST FOR GERMANY

BERLIN, May 23.—(UP)—Chancellor Henrich Bruening was understood tonight to have decided to keep Adolph Hitler's fascist party out of the government by establishing a stronger and more dictatorial regime in Germany.

Contrary to the expectations of foreign diplomats, the chances of immediate entry of the Hitlerites into the cabinet appeared to be fading rapidly as Chancellor Bruening arranged to fill gaps caused by resignations during the recent governmental crisis.

The chancellor, it was indicated, intends to rest the strength of his regime more than ever on the authority of President Paul von Hindenburg and the leaders of the army.

Several ambassadors previously had advised their governments that the fascists were likely to wield an important share of the government within a month. This seemed to be strengthened by the fact that the fascists are the strongest party in the Prussian diet, which convenes tomorrow to select a new premier.

But developments appear to be taking a turn which will keep out the Hitlerites for the present at least. The fate of the reich is still obscure, but it appears that the fascists themselves are content for the present to act as the opposition to the cabinet and devote their talents to increasing their strength to a clear majority.

SENATOR LEWIS FAVORS REVIEW OF WAR DEBTS

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—Revision of the war debts on the basis of present-day prices was proposed in the senate today by Senator Lewis, democrat, Illinois.

Lewis also proposed that America should allocate its purchases abroad among the debtor nations and credit them against the war debts.

The Illinois senator said the debts should be readjusted upon present prices instead of the former high prices as 'the first step of restoration" of world commerce.

He said the tariff commission could ascertain the need which America has for foreign products and purchase them from the countries that are in debt, giving them credit for the purchase on the debts.

Executive Reveals Offer Made by Capone Henchmen To Recover Baby Providing Gangster Chief Got Credit.

DR. CONDON MAKES ANOTHER JOURNEY

Curtis Has Not Repudiated Hoax Confession, Schwarzkopf Emphatically Declares.

BY FRANCIS A. JAMIESON.

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 23.—(AP) A $25,000 reward loomed ahead of the manhunters engaged in pursuing the Lindbergh baby killers tonight as they opened up new channels of inquiry by mail.

At near-by Trenton the state legislature, which reconvened during the day, passed through both houses with only one dissenting vote a bill empowering Governor A. Harry Moore to order a reward. The governor was prepared to act immediately.

"We think," said the governor, "and hope the reward may cause someone who knows something to squeal."

While he pointed out the state of New Jersey could not make a grant of immunity he said the measure authorizing the reward had "more latitude" regarding its payment than the statute limiting routine reward to $1,000.

Reviewing the wide-flung search in progress and commenting on the reward, the governor said:

Done Everything.

"Then we will have done everything it is possible for the state to do to bring the perpetrators of this crime to justice."

Meantime law enforcement agencies throughout the nation were circularized with specimens of handwriting contained in two ransom notes believed to have been received from the abductors of the infant through the aged Dr. John F. Condon.

Two interesting sidelights were another strange New England dash by Dr. Condon, the ransom payer, and a detailed story from Governor Moore of how ambitious agents of Al Capone approached him personally with a proposal regarding the case.

Governor Moore said that while walking home near midnight a short time before the finding of the baby's body, four men suddenly appeared in front of him and told him who they were.

"I had just passed a policeman who I knew," related the governor, "and that was a bit of comfort. I stopped where I was and decided to call him if necessary."

The quartet proposed to render assistance in obtaining the baby's return provided "full credit" should accrue to their imprisoned leader. The governor said he told them he would convey the offer to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, which he did.

Offer Reported.

It had been known that the Capone gang had sought to intervene in the wide-flung search, but this was the first time the governor gave public confirmation of the direct approach made to him. Once the scarface chief-

'Man Who Killed Kitchener' Taken After 13-Year Hunt

BY H. ALLEN SMITH.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(UP)—"Ford of headquarters," relentless, implacable, unforgetting as Victor Hugo's "Javert," who was the model of all police agents, ended a 13-year pursuit today when he tapped Captain Fritz Joubert Duquesne on the shoulder and bade him come along to the station.

"Duquesne," protesting that he was an Englishman by the name of T. De Trafford Craven, went unwillingly, but tonight was being held in the most secure cell in the depths of police headquarters.

Duquesne, unless Thomas Ford has made a mistake, and Ford has made few in his career, is one of the world's most brazen—and most fascinating—soldiers of fortune. Charged with arson and swindling in America, he also is wanted by England for "murder on the high seas." He was a soldier in the Boer War, a spy for Germany in the World War and, by some reputation and in the boasting of his friends, "the man who killed Kitchener."

Duquesne is said to have been born of a French father and a Dutch mother, in South Africa. He saw service in the Kaffir wars, and won distinction as a duellist with the saber and rapier when he was in military school in Belgium.

As a valuable officer on the Boer general staff, he engaged in a remarkable series of plots against the British, one of which, the proposed burning of Cape Town, was nearly successful. He was arrested, and sentenced to death as a spy. The sentence was commuted, and he was sent to Bermuda, whence he escaped to the United States on a private yacht by overpowering a seaman and using his uniform.

Duquesne was arrested in December, 1917, charged with insurance fraud. He was accused of placing time bombs in a storage warehouse in Brooklyn, and of setting up a claim for insurance after the resultant explosion.

Tried on this charge and convicted, he feigned paralysis, and in May, 1919, made a sensational escape from Bellevue hospital here.

At the outbreak of hostilities on the continent in 1914, he went to work immediately for Germany.

Three British sailors were killed later on the Lamport and Holt liner Tennyson, bound from Brazil to New York, by the explosion of "minerals" said to have been shipped by Duquesne. It is for this crime that he is charged by the British with murder on the high seas.

As "the man who killed Kitchener," the story is fantastic, wholly unsubstantiated, and yet it is not without the bounds of reasonable possibility.

Hannah Threatened With Death Unless He Quits 3d Ward Race

Death threats Monday were injected into the councilmanic contest in the third ward, where Homer Hannah is locked with Councilman Ed L. Almand in the race for nomination in Wednesday's primary.

Hannah exhibited a threat to quit the race "before it is too late," or "we are going to fix you so you can't run for office no more." About a score of his personal friends and political advisors told him to stay in the race, and to fight until the "last vote is counted."

The candidate said he could not be intimidated by any such anonymous expressions.

Signature of the note was "Men That Do Things," whose trade-mark was a crudely inscribed skull and cross-bones.

Text of the message, which was dated May 18 and which was placed in Hannah's door several days ago, follows:

"Mr. Hannah:

"You get out of the race for council—now. We don't want men like you in office.

"We want men in office that will keep our pay up and not so stout for lower taxes.

"If you don't get out, we are going to fix you so you can't run for office no more.

"If you got any sense take this warning and get out now before it is too late.

"Men That Do Things." This signature was followed by the skull and cross-bones.

"I am in this race to win and cannot be driven from it," Hannah told his friends at the conference. "I consider this a cowardly act. I have no intention of quitting and I call on my friends to resent such tactics and defeat anyone who would sanction them."

Amelia Wins Admission Of Woman's Ability in Air

LONDON, May 23.—(AP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam shopped today for clothes, was toasted by British journalists and gained one of the points of her solo flight across the Atlantic—an admission by a man that women could do something valuable.

The slim blond flyer, whose tousled hair and frank smile have captured the fancy of the British public, said feminine resentment at all the "catty things" men say about women drivers and women pilots was the driving urge behind her ocean flight.

"Where there's a traffic jam on Fifth Avenue, men always comment, 'Oh, it's a woman driving,'" she explained.

"I have gone up with a mechanic who doesn't know the controls from the altimeter and when I've come down I have heard people say he probably did most of the flying.

"I determined to show them. And outside of demonstrating that a woman can fly the Atlantic alone, I don't see that I've added anything to aviation, science or anything else."

Ralph D. Blumenfeld, editor of the Daily Express, said, however, when he proposed a toast to her at a luncheon of the Institute of Journalists:

"I hereby retract my pet theory—that a woman never did anything really valuable."

The newspapermen gave her an ovation.

"I'm having a grand time," Mrs. Putnam said. "And the nicest thing that has happened to me is having all these men stand and sing 'For she's a jolly good fellow.'"

Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, congratulated the smiling flyer on her feat in flying alone from Harbor Grace, N. F., to Culmore, Northern Ireland. He said she had proved by flying in 13 hours and 30 minutes that Britain and America never were so close to each other as right now.

Mrs. Putnam responded gracefully to the toast.

She said she expected to make the trip again some day in a regular trans-Atlantic air passenger service, which she was confident would be established.

At the luncheon Miss Earhart drank a toast in water to the president of the United States and another to the king. Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon, sitting beside her, performed the ceremony with the aid of whisky and soda.

The ambassador paid tribute to her as a gourageous young woman whose flight, "an event of major importance that grips the imagination."

Mrs. Putnam said she would leave Friday for Rome, where the first international conference of trans-oceanic fliers is meeting.

tain had communicated a "guarantee" of results to Colonel Lindbergh if he could be freed temporarily from jail.

Traveling at a high rate of speed, which had characterized his motor journey into that section Saturday, Dr. Condon left his New York home in the morning and was driven to the summer home of a friend at Becket, Mass., where he said he planned to fish. He explained that he wished a short rest from the strain of recent days.

However, he found time both en route and upon his arrival for a series of cryptic statements similar to the ones which have attended many of his activities.

At one point he said he was convinced the ransom of $50,000 which he paid April 2 now was in the possession of a group of fishermen at New Bedford, Mass., or Buzzard's Bay, who were afraid to attempt to get rid of it.

The only possible connection that could be seen between this view and the known facts in the case was the circumstance that the Scandinavian named "John" to whom the ransom was paid in a cemetery, falsely promised the baby could be found in a yacht off the Massachusetts coast.

Jafsie Fraternity.

An assertion that he was organizing a "Jafsie fraternity," throughout New England to aid the murder hunt apparently explained an earlier remark that excited interest as he passed through Great Barrington, Massachusetts.

New Jersey police said they knew of no special search being made in that neighborhood.

His companion was Walter Goodwin, a Bronx (N. Y.) neighbor. The Woodwin cottage at Becket bore a sign worded: "This cottage protected. To force entrance would result in serious injury." Crossed out were the words "or possible death."

The district attorney of the Bronx, who has been conducting a grand jury inquiry into the "Jafsie" activities said the editor of a newspaper in which Dr. Condon inserted advertisements bearing the unusual signature would be called as a witness. He also spoke of another possible witness whose name was withheld.

The formal police bulletins of the day devoted considerable space to answering inquiries regarding John Hughes Curtis, jailed at Flemington, N. J., after confessing he faked his story of negotiating with the kidnapers.

The Hunterdon county grand jury, engaged with consideration of a homicide, did not take up the case of Curtis during the day.

Conference Today.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck said he would confer with Colonel Lindbergh at the latter's home tomorrow regarding the charge of obstructing justice and supplying false information against Curtis.

The grand jury completed tasks with today's sitting, but Hauck indicated it might return Thursday to hear the Curtis case dependent upon the outcome of his conference with Colonel Lindbergh tomorrow.

"Curtis," said Hauck, "is in jail and the next move is his, not ours."

It was assumed the prosecutor referred to the question of bail of $10,000, which Curtis has been unable thus far to supply.

Considerable speculation has been current regarding the personal attitude of Colonel Lindbergh toward prosecution of Curtis and to what extent, if necessary, he would appear either in grand jury or trial proceedings.

The only official statement on this available thus far was the following in a police bulletin of several days ago:

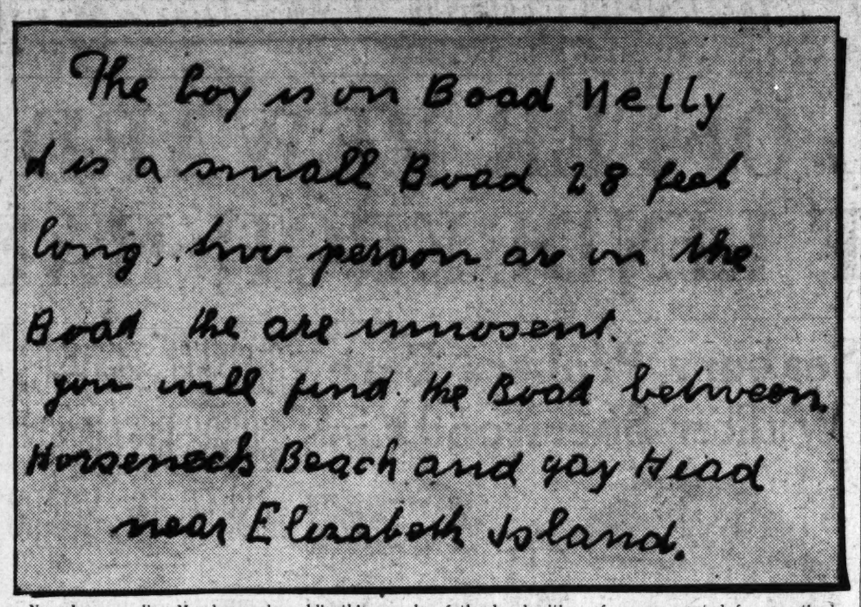

"Colonel Lindbergh has not intimated to the authorities at this point any attitude with regard to the prosecution of Mr. Curtis. Colonel Lindbergh has repeatedly stated that he will not interfere with the police in any way regardless of what skepticism may have existed concerning Mr. Curtis' story.

"As long as he (Curtis) maintained that he had contact with the kidnapers and held the possibility of accomplishing the return of the baby it was necessary to exhaust possibilities of his plan."

Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, made a formal and emphatic denial of a published story that Curtis had recanted his confession.

Entire responsibility for safeguarding Curtis, explained Schwarzkopf, rests with the sheriff of Hunterdon county since an offer of a guard of state police was refused by the sheriff.

Writer Sought in Lindbergh Case

New Jersey police Monday made public this sample of the handwriting of a man wanted for questioning in connection with the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby. It is all the information they made public as to his identity. Whether the excerpt is from a note to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh himself, to "Jafsie" or to some other person was not announced. Police all over the country received copies of the circular showing the writing, with a request that they check against the writing of any person arrested since the baby was kidnaped and murdered.

PURVIS, FLANDERS WIN SENATE FAVOR

Judiciary Committee Agrees on Report of Georgians' Nominations.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The senate judiciary committee today agreed to favorably report the nominations of Samuel Purvis as United States marshal in the middle district of Georgia and G. F. Flanders as marshal in the southern district.

A public hearing was held here two weeks ago at which Flanders answered charges to the effect he was "incompetent" and had solicited contributions from postmasters and applications for appointment as postmasters.

Senators Hastings, republican, Delaware, and Hebert, Rhode Island, filed the favorable report on Flanders. Senator Stephens, of Mississippi, the democratic chairman of the subcommittee previously had announced he would not sign a favorable report nor would he oppose one.

No date has been set for a hearing on the Purvis nomination. If no action is taken at this session of congress he will continue in the office of marshal but unless Flanders' nomination is confirmed he will go out of office when congress adjourns. Flanders has been serving under a recess appointment.

Man Hurls Baby, Self To Death From Bridge

NEW YORK, May 23—(AP)—A man threw a two-year-old girl from the approach to the Manhattan bridge to South street 200 feet below today, and then jumped after her. Both were instantly killed.

A letter found in the man's pocket indicated he was Roy Amery, a World War veteran, who lived in Brooklyn. He was about 35 years old. The identity of the child was not immediately determined.

Two laborers were walking along South street when the body of the yellow-haired child, clad in flowered pajamas, landed in the roadway. Looking up they saw the man climb the parapet and leap to his death.

Showers Again Due To Fall in Atlanta

Occasional showers, cloudy skies and moderate temperatures, much the same as on Monday, is the weather outlook for Atlanta today, according to C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist here. The temperature will range between 62 and 70 degrees or higher, he said. Monday's temperature was 62 degrees at the minimum reading and 68 at the maximum.

There is little hope of clear weather until the latter part of the week, he asserted, due to the fact that the disturbance over the Gulf of Mexico which has been causing all of the rain and murky weather in Georgia, has failed to push its way northward. The rainfall, though not heavy in Georgia, has been beneficial to the crops, as the rain has soaked into the soil. To date the deficiency in rainfall for Atlanta is 1.46 inches for the month. The total rainfall for the present wet spell has been .97 of an inch.

ALL POSTAL WORKERS STRIKE IN SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, May 23.—(AP)—Shanghai was completely isolated from the rest of the world today as far as mail is concerned.

Authorities said the strike would not last long, however, for although it was tightened up here, postal workers throughout the rest of China refused to join.

HOOVER MISQUOTED US, ENGINEERS DECLARE

NEW YORK, May 23.—(UP)—The American Society of Civil Engineers replied tonight to President Hoover's letter of yesterday in which the president criticised the society's program for economic reconstruction, and said Mr. Hoover must have been misinformed in some particulars regarding their views on rehabilitation.

"There are, in the president's discussion, several statements attributed to the society which must have originated from some other source," the society said.

"Referring to the first paragraph of the president's letter, the society did not suggest 'that the depression can be broken by a large issue of federal government bonds to finance a new program of huge expansion of public works construction,' the statement said.

"The legislation necessary to effect the purpose proposed," it continued, "could be based upon that which has already found successful application in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, i e., the credit of the federal government could be extended to reinforce the securities of states, counties and municipalities that may be issued to finance necessary and useful public works . . .

"The committee reiterates," the society said, "the concluding statement of the memorandum. Steps should be taken at once to embody a program of public works construction in appropriate legislation, either as an amendment to existing law, as a new bill, or as a provision of some appropriate bill now under the consideration of congress. There is urgent need for the trade stimulus that can be realized through a public works program, soundly planned and adequately safeguarded as here proposed . . . now is the opportunity to apply the federal credit to the actual stimulation of business recovery."

Credit Expansion Body Plans Jobs for Dollars

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—The credit expansion committee, headed by Owen D. Young, began a series of meetings today to work out plans to aid in putting millions of dollars in bank credit to work.

The 12 members of the committee declined to comment on the status of their discussions, but it was learned they had appointed subcommittees to consider various aspects of their problem.

Since the federal reserve system began its program of pumping out credit through purchases of United States government securities in February, it has bought some $725,000,000 worth of governments.

This has resulted in piling up of excess or unused reserves of member banks in the amount of approximately $300,000,000, which might form the reserve basis for the extension of a theoretical maximum of $3,000,000,000 in bank credit.

Wall Street has been agog with speculation as to what might be the first move of the committee, and in some important banking quarters it has been suggested that it might be designed to rectify the almost demoralized conditions in the bond market.

Sen. Long Will Oppose Garsaud Confirmation

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—An immediate fight against the confirmation of Marcel Garsaud, of New Orleans, was promised today by Senator Long, democrat, Louisiana, just after the senate received from President Hoover Garsaud's nomination for reappointment as a member of the power commission.

Long now is fighting the confirmation of Ernest Brugieres as commissioner of immigration at New Orleans. He termed him "personally obnoxious" on appearing before a senate committee.

He declined to say today whether he would oppose Garsaud on the same grounds.

One of the heretofore almost inviolate rules of the senate has been that if a senator from a nominee's state said he was "personally obnoxious," confirmation was denied.

Hoover to Review Gray Vets June 25

RICHMOND, Va., May 23.—(AP)—Soldiers of the Confederacy will march up Pennsylvania avenue to the White House and pass in review before the president of the United States June 25.

Not only will those southern veterans of the '60's go to the official residence of the Union's chief executive, but they will take their sons, and be accompanied by members of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association.

They will go directly from Richmond, the capital of the Confederacy, where on June 24 they will close the forty-second reunion of the United Confederate Veterans.

Arrangements for the visit are being completed in Washington by officers of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. Announcement of the Washington trip was made from the reunion headquarters here today.

Alert Mechanics Avert DO-X Crash

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., May 23.—(AP)—The German flying boat DO-X came within an ace of disaster tonight.

After the giant plane had alighted at 7:15 p. m. following her 650-mile flight from Vigo, Spain, she was taken in tow by the Royal Air Force plane Pinnacle and headed for her moorings.

Just as she was in a position to be moored for the night and the towrope had been tossed off, an officer carrying a mooring rope fell into the water. All of the DO-X's engines had been shut off for the tow and she was helpless in the tide, which swept her towards a jetty.

Mechanics standing on her wings strove frantically to get the engines working. Finally when only a few feet lay between the DO-X and shipwreck one of the engines whirred into action and carried her to safety.

U. S. Funds Hinted In White Guard Cause

MOSCOW, May 23.—(AP)—A Berlin dispatch to the Tass (official Russian) News Agency, tonight said "well informed sources" report a financial group "closely connected with Rockefeller" as rendering material assistance toward the organization of White Guard detachments for the far east.

These advices declared that "White Guard centers" in Europe and America were conducting vigorous organization work, and that its representatives were negotiating secretly in the United States and France for the purchase of ammunition for 25,000 men.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Persons close to the Rockefeller interests here tonight classified as too absurd for comment a Berlin dispatch to the Tass (official Russian) News Agency relating a report that a financial group "closely connected with Rockefeller" was aiding organization of White Guard detachments for the far east.

Peacock Tells of Gang's Demand For $50,000 for Return of Baby

OTTAWA, Canada, May 23.—(AP)—How he himself negotiated with "three tough-looking customers" in a New York hotel for the return of the Lindbergh baby was related by Dean H. Dobson-Peacock, of Norfolk, Va., in a copyright interview published today by the Southam newspapers of Canada.

These mysterious men who summoned him by telephone, Dean Peacock said, demanded $50,000 ransom, but, suspecting they were "racketeers," he broke off negotiations.

The dean, who formerly had churches in Canada, said he first intended to go to Hopewell, N. J., in response to police requests, but changed his mind upon the advice of friends, in and out of his Norfolk church.

Although Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh doubted the value of Curtis' Norfolk clues, Dean Peacock said, he gave authority to continue negotiations. While Curtis was continuing to claim contacts, a long distance call from New York came tot he dean on April 21.

Dean Peacock said he was told to fly to New York and register at the Park Central in the name of James Hill. Doing so, a man came to his room. Doubtful, the dean said he got in touch with Curtis, who advised him to learn what the mysterious men had to say.

He was taken to a room in the Cumberland hotel "where three tough-looking customers joined us," Dean Peacock said. There a plan for return of the child was outlined. It was similar, he said, to the one Curtis' alleged go-between had suggested.

"It included payment of $50,000 ransom and a cash payment the next day of $500 for a special purpose," the churchman said. "I was warned that every step I took would be watched and I was threatened if I made a false move.

"By that time I suspected them as racketeers. I went back to Curtis and spent the remainder of the night at his hotel." He said nothing more was heard of the men.

Studio Club's Fine Cast To Offer 'Aren't We All' Wednesday Night

"Aren't We All," the fourth and concluding play of the present season by the Little Theater of the Studio Club, will be presented Wednesday night at the Woman's Club auditorium with what is perhaps the best amateur cast ever offered in Atlanta.

Patrons of the club's Little Theater know that their plays are devoid of any amateurishness insofar as ability and training go. Added to that are sets designed by artists, and the production appears as one worthy of the public's approval.

The appearance of many members of the cast is eagerly anticipated because of many previous successes. Cyril Smith, Marion Camp and Miss Cleveland Zahner are all well known here. Mary Elizabeth Pinkston, another member of the cast, has given many brilliant performances. She is best remembered, perhaps, by her portrayal of the princess in "The Queen's Husband," given by the Civic Theater some time ago, and as Monica Gret in the Little Theater's "The Second Man."

Mrs. Louise Roberts and Mrs. Albert Howell Jr. also are capable and experienced members of the exceptionally strong cast offered in "Aren't We All."

The play is by Frederick Lonsdale, who wrote "The Last of Mrs. Cheney," and this one is equally sparkling. Tickets are now on sale.

METHODISTS PROPOSE WAR DEBT REVISION

Abolition of Compulsory Military Training Also Urged.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 23. (AP)—A world peace program advocating a new settlement of war debts, a revision of the Versailles treaty, drastic disarmament and abolition of compulsory military training in colleges was ratified today by the Methodist general conference.

The program, framed by the committee on the state of the church "to create the will for peace, the conditions for peace and the organization for peace," was adopted without amendment. An attempt to eliminate a section which declared for amendment of naturalization laws to admit "conscientious objectors" to citizenship was vetoed almost unanimously.

The call for revision of war debts was made after a statement that the "sole guilt of the German nation for the World War alleged in article 231 of the Versailles treaty cannot in justice be maintained."

Pointing out that Germany's war reparations were based on this article, the document stated that further reparations based upon it should not be demanded.

Among instruments of war the program asked be sharply reduced or abolished were tanks, heavy Mobile guns, airplanes, airplane carriers and gas.

American entrance into the League of Nations, "with such senate reservations as shall harmonize the constitution of the League with the Paris peace pact" and American ratification of the World Court protocols under the Root formula were also urged.

Heirs Wait Fifty Years To Claim $120,000,000

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 23. (AP)—To take possession of a fortune of $120,000,000 a white-haired Armenian woman, Marianne Djanikian, 80, has gone to India with her two sons.

In 1882 Eli Amirhanian died in India and left the large fortune. His will stated that if should not be turned over to his heirs for 50 years.

With the expiration of the 50 years the executors searched for the heirs and found Mrs. Djanikian, a granddaughter.

THREATS BY LETTER MAY BE OUTLAWED

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The senate judiciary committee today reported favorably on the Cochran bill to punish those who send threatening letters through the mails.

It was amended by the committee to provide that the person sending the letter should be tried where the letter was sent, rather than either where sent or received.

Disinterment of Body Of Clarke Is Ordered

MIAMI, Fla., May 23.—(AP)—Disinterment of the body of Haden Clarke and examination for indications of suicide was ordered here today on request of counsel for Captain W. N. Lancaster, former British army flyer, who is held without bail on a first degree murder charge in the case.

The order was issued by Circuit Judge H. F. Atkinson, who prescribed that a commission of physicians and surgeons examine the body, buried the day after the "love triangle" shooting April 21, their findings to trace indications of murder or suicide.

Saito Begins Task Of Forming Cabinet

TOKYO, May 23.—(AP)—Admiral Makoto Saito, non-partisan liberal commissioned by Emperor Hirohito to head a new government, began the task today of forming a national emergency cabinet to succeed that of the slain Premier Suyoshi Inukai.

Former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, who headed the minseito party cabinet that fell last December, when Mr. Inukai came to power at the head of a seiyukai government, was invited by the admiral to join his cabinet.

After his interview with Admiral Saito, Baron Wakatsuki consulted Baron Tatsuo Yamamoto, adviser of the minseito party, whom he expected to recommend for a portfolio. Selection of the cabinet is likely to take several days.

Parliament convened today in extraordinary session, summoned a month ago by the late Premier Inukai, to consider raising further funds for the Manchurian campaign, higher tariffs and control of foreign exchange now that Japan is off the gold standard. After a perfunctory meeting it adjourned until the new cabinet is installed.

GEORGIA'S SOLONS UNITED IN BALLOT AGAINST 2.75 BEER

WASHINGTON, May 23.—All 12 members of Georgia's house delegation today voted as a unit against the O'Connor-Hull beer tax bill when it was proposed on the floor to discharge the ways and means committee from further consideration of it.

Before the vote was taken Representative Crisp, of Americus, acting chairman of the committee, told the house it was foolish for his committee to hold hearings on the measure when more important legislation was pending, "but I think the country is entitled to know how every member of this body stands on the issue involved in the measure."

"The ways and means committee," he said, "will never bring in a beer bill as long as the 18th amendment is a part of the constitution and the Volstead act is on our statute books."

The final vote of 169 to 228 was a surprise to many members as it was thought the wets would show greater strength.

DO YOU INHALE?

A frank discussion at last on a subject that has long been "taboo"

O. K. AMERICA
TUNE IN ON LUCKY STRIKE—60 modern minutes with the world's finest dance orchestras, and famous Lucky Strike news features, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evening over N. B. C. networks.

"LET sleeping dogs lie!" So said the cigarette trade when first we raised the subject of inhaling. But dodging an important issue is not Lucky Strike's policy!

Do you inhale? That question is vitally important . . . for every smoker inhales—knowingly or unknowingly. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette! And the delicate membranes of your throat demand that your smoke be pure, clean—free of certain impurities!

No wonder Lucky Strike dares to raise this vital question! For Luckies bring you the protection you want . . . because Luckies' famous purifying process removes certain impurities concealed in every tobacco leaf. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

So, whether you inhale knowingly or unknowingly, safeguard those delicate membranes!

HUNDREDS TAKE PART IN COBB CELEBRATION

POWDER SPRINGS, Ga., May 23.—More than 500 persons assembled on the campus of the Seventh District A. and M. College at MacLand Monday for Cobb County Day.

Exercises began at 10 o'clock a. m. after the visitors made a tour of inspection over the campus, in the classrooms, and other places of interest on the grounds.

Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the U. S. court of appeals, addressed the crowd in the college chapel at 10 o'clock. Judge Sibley eulogized the part that the college has played in the training of the youth of Georgia and declared that the work done at the institution far more than justified the cost of maintaining it. Judge Sibley recommended that the institution be made a junior college.

In reviewing the educational system of the state and commenting on the plans of reorganization by the new board of regents of the state university system, Judge Sibley stated that the system could be improved and the cost of maintenance reduced by making junior colleges out of the more active and progressive A. and M. colleges and abolishing the freshman and sophomore classes at the university proper in Athens.

Judge Sibley was a member of the board of trustees of the University of Georgia prior to the creation of the new board of regents.

Walter McElreath, prominent Atlanta attorney, also made an address in which he praised the work of the college.

A barbecue dinner was served on the college grounds at noon. The barbecue and the Cobb County Day program were jointly sponsored by the Marietta Kiwanis and Rotary clubs.

The program marked the second large public gathering at the college during the present commencement season. Saturday night Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. made the principal address at the annual alumni banquet at which nearly 3,000 persons were present.

Man Like Raskob Is Sought To Head Hoover Campaign

Postmaster-General Brown Is Eliminated. If Big Businessman Refuses, Professor Ray Benjamin Will Act.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Plans of the Hoover high command a few months ago for electing Postmaster-General Walter F. Brown, chairman of the republican national committee, as the successor to Senator Simeon Fess, of Ohio, have apparently undergone a last-minute change and the expectations are now that the White House will shortly make known a new choice for the important post.

Word from an unusually authoritative quarter today had it that Mr. Brown was eliminated from the national chairmanship picture at a recent conference of Hoover leaders, who, it was asserted, have tendered the appointment to one of the leading business figures of the country not now identified with the president's official family.

The identity of the man reported to have been tendered the post has not yet been made known but he is said to represent a close parallel to John J. Raskob at the time he was selected democratic national chairman by the then democratic nominee, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, four years ago. That is to say, the prospective new republican chairman, according to the reports, will be some one with a financial background sufficient to raise all necessary funds for conducting the coming campaign.

Plausibility is given the reported set-up by the obstacles republicans have met so far in raising a campaign chest. It is no secret in Washington that the party organization has been hard pressed to raise sufficient funds for meeting its current headquarters obligations. Moreover, the outlook for providing a fund to cover the considerable outlay of the latter campaign has not been at all bright.

In the event the person now agreed upon for the post does not find the task to his liking, it is understood that the president will then draft Ray Benjamin, of California, an old friend of Mr. Hoover's and now generally referred to as the "Colonel House" of the Hoover administration. Mr. Benjamin was brought to Washington some months ago by the president to act as his personal representative in certain unofficial and political matters. He and Postmaster General Brown have practically been running the republican national committee headquarters here for some time and more than any one else have been looked upon as the managers of Mr. Hoover's campaign for renomination. Although Senator Fess is still the nominal chairman, actually he has been devoting little of his time to the office.

Everything was cut and dried for Mr. Brown to succeed Chairman Fess at the time the republican national committee met here in December. Senator Fess himself is said to have agreed to the change, in keeping with his earlier announcement at the time he took the post that he only intended to serve during the congressional bye-elections of 1930. A source of much agitation within the party on account of his frequent utterances on the prohibition question, he has remained on chiefly because of the demands by wet leaders that he resign, refusing to step down under fire.

It was a repetition of these demands, in fact, that upset the carefully arranged program for having the December meeting of the national committee elect Mr. Brown as his successor. Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, majority leader in the senate, Mr. Benjamin, and a few other administration strategists, after a series of conferences, had finally prevailed upon the postmaster general to accept the post. At first Mr. Brown was adverse to the proposal, feeling that for him to take the office so far in advance of the campaign might destroy his later usefulness through being subjected to the onslaughts of opponents during the interim.

Just about the time he had agreed to withdraw his objections, however, Senator Fess got into another squabble with the wet element of the party and found himself faced with new demands for his resignation by Representative Fred Britten, of Illinois, a militant republican wet. That served to wreck the program. Senator Fess refused to step down under fire and the matter was allowed to go over to the national convention next month.

In the meantime, members of the Hoover board of strategy for reasons not yet made known, have decided that Mr. Brown, after all, is not the logical man for the chairmanship. So far as known Mr. Brown may himself have had something to do with the decision, it being suggested that he again opposed the move in his behalf.

TAX EXEMPTION PLAN ADVOCATED BY CUBA

Expansion of System Would Stimulate Business, Second Ward Candidate Contends.

Max M. Cuba, for 11 years auditor of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, official Methodist publication, and other leading enterprises and prominent in civic and social service activities of Atlanta for many years, Monday advocated expansion of the three-year tax exemption now allowed new industries to home construction and other building activities.

Cuba, who is a candidate for council from the second ward in Wednesday's primary, asserted that such a move would stimulate business, give rise to a demand for materials and would do much to aid in a solution of the unemployment problem. At the same time he pointed out that the city would actually gain by placing a new value of the improved property after the three-year exemption period.

MAX M. CUBA.

He is a public account and business advisor, and as such has given much study to present economic conditions and to a possible alleviation of the present crisis. He cited facts and figures to show that the most prosperous times through which America and Atlanta have passed have been a general boom in building trades activities.

Cuba was born in New York but moved to Atlanta when he was 3 years old, and has lived here since. He has been a resident of the second ward for 18 years. He is a past president of the Southern Young Judean Association and of the Jewish Progressive Club. He has been affiliated with civic enterprises, including the Community Chest, and with social service activities for many years, and is conversant with the needs of the second ward and the relief measures necessary to give unemployment aid, his friends claim.

"I feel that any plan to relieve the present unemployment situation in Atlanta should receive the sympathetic ear of every loyal Atlantan," he said. "I believe my training and my desire to serve the ward fit me to cope with the problems of the municipal government and to assist in seeing that taxpayers get an increased amount of public service for every dollar expended."

Veteran Who Quit Water 69 Years Ago Dies at 101

WATERTOWN, Wis., May 23. (AP)—Henry Bassinger, 101, Civil War veteran, who claimed he had not tasted water for 69 years, is dead.

AIDE TELLS OF ESCAPE BY CLARA PHILLIPS

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—(AP)—A picturesque soldier of fortune, Jesse G. Carson, 49, the man who helped Clara Phillips, convicted "hammer murderess," escape to Honduras, told in court today how Mrs. Phillips walked out the front door of the county jail in 1923 and was whisked by him out of the country.

Carson, seeking to regain title to three suburban lots, declined to reveal the name of the men he said escorted Mrs. Phillips out of the jail. Recaptured in Honduras months afterwards, Mrs. Phillips was returned to Los Angeles and convicted of killing Alberta Meadows with a hammer. She is still in prison. Carson was never prosecuted for aiding in the escape.

Carson, now almost blind and nearly deaf, denied Mrs. Phillips sawed the county jail bars to effect her release. Authorities believed she either sawed the jail bars or was released by a jail attache.

Another Evarts Slaying Bared by Kentuckian

HARLAN, Ky., May 23.—(AP)—First tangible evidence that more than four men have been killed in the Battle of Evarts, May 5, 1931, was revealed here today, arousing speculation as to the actual number of men who lost their lives in the fighting between deputies, sheriffs and miners. The evidence was a head with a bullet hole through it, hands and feet, preserved in chemicals.

The gruesome evidence was brought to J. A. Surgener, Harlan merchant, by an Evarts resident whose name was withheld. Surgener immediately notified Sheriff John Henry Blair.

Surgener said the parts were cut from a body found in the mountains close to the scene of the battle and within a short time after the fight. He said the Evarts man, being fearful of revealing his discovery and unable to bring the body out of the mountains, cut off the head, feet and hands, and buried the remainder.

The identity of the slain man could not be learned. He was sandy haired, and three fingers were off one hand.

AN ANNUAL SALARY

In 1931 the total annual income—the yearly "salary"—of the people of the United States was nearly 60 billions of dollars. In 1914 it was only slightly more than half that amount—36 billion dollar

In 1931 this annual income was used, partially, to buy at retail over 40 billion dollars worth of merchandise. In 1914 only 22 billion dollars were spent in a similar way.

These figures are conclusive evidence that there still is business to be had by those who seek it aggressively—spurred on by their very faith in America and its future!

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 24, 1932.

ROOSEVELT'S ADDRESS.

The necessity of a closer parity between the purchasing power of the dollar and the debt-paying power of American commodities featured the statesmanlike manner in which Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt discussed the problems confronting the country in his address Sunday night before the graduating class of Oglethorpe University.

In frankly and fearlessly commenting on the present unsolved political and economic problems, Governor Roosevelt said:

> Whether it be an original cause, or an effect, the drastic change in the value of our monetary unit in terms of the commodities is a problem which we must meet straightforwardly. It is self-evident that we must either restore commodities to a level approximating their dollar value of several years ago or else that we must continue the destructive process of reducing, through defaults or through deliberate writing down, obligations assumed at a higher price level.

In his advocacy of a stabilized value for both the dollar and for the products of the fields, factories and mines of America, Governor Roosevelt is in full accord with the position taken by Senator George and Acting Chairman Crisp, of the house ways and means committee.

This position reflects the growing sentiment of the country that something must be done to protect the producers of the nation from the danger and injustice of the present situation.

There can be no sound agricultural, commercial, industrial or financial prosperity so long as our farmers labor under a system which, when they have pledged a certain amount of their products for a loan, forces them to pay two or three times as much to liquidate the indebtedness.

When harvest time comes if the price of a farmer's cotton, corn or wheat is the same as it was when he made the loan he can pay up and have a fair margin of profit left over. But if the dollar has increased in value and the price of his commodity has dropped to half or less, it means ruin.

He has only so many acres, so many mules and so much equipment and he has borrowed on the full productivity of his farm, figured on the value of his crop at the time the loan was made. It is impossible for him to produce two or three times as much in order to make up the difference in price.

The result is that the farmer faces disaster, the lender has to hold over his loan or take a loss he cannot afford, and business and industry generally suffers because the purchasing power of the farmer has gone up in smoke as the price of his commodities has gone down.

As Governor Roosevelt, Congressman Crisp and Senator George have so forcefully said, the only remedy is, in the New York governor's succinct words, "to restore commodities to a level approximating their dollar value of a few years ago, or else we must continue the destructive process of reducing, through defaults, or through deliberate writing down, obligations assumed at a higher price level."

The way to this healthier and more just parity in the value of the dollar and the nation's products lies through rigidly controlled currency inflation, and it is a hopeful sign that those leaders who are most in the public eye now, because of their safe and wise progressiveness, are practically a unit in their attitude towards this method of economic relief.

Speaking of front page news, we'll be glad when conditions are such that declaring dividends isn't.

A TRICK THAT WON'T WORK.

Without a single voice being raised in defense of the inexcusable and unjustifiable attempt of the city executive committee to perpetrate a piece of political trickery by catching the voters asleep, Mayor Key and other veteran members of the municipal government have been gratifyingly prompt in warning property owners of the danger involved in the at first secret proposal to place the city's tax assessors in a position where they would be subjected to the hindrances and handicaps of political domination.

Such men as Mayor Key, Aldermen Millican, Mitchell, Aldredge, Reynolds, Seawright and Gilliam, Chairman Barnwell, of council's tax committee, and Chairman Sweat, of the current expense committee of the school board, have striven long and valiantly to eliminate conditions akin to those which eventuated in the graft exposures of two years ago and to put the city's finances on a sounder, more businesslike basis.

With the tax assessors at the beck and call of ward politicians, everything that has been accomplished towards lightening the burden of the taxpayers would be imperiled, and a continuance of waste and extravagance could be expected with taxation going sky high to pay the bills.

The underhand, secretive manner in which this attempt to throw a vital department of the city government into politics was gone about throws suspicion and distrust on the motives behind it.

Only the conviction that the voters would turn thumbs down on the proposition if it were properly presented to them can explain this effort to obtain through political chicanery what could otherwise not have been "put over."

There should be no taint of political fear or favor in the assessment of property for taxation or, as Councilman Drennon warns, "public property would cease being that and would become political property."

The mayor points out that the plan makes the assessment of property a political matter, and Alderman Gilliam and others warn that the proposal rings so untrue as to "smack of demagoguery."

It is a pretty come-to-pass when a party executive committee, or any other political body, takes it upon itself to say that the public shall not have opportunity to acquaint itself with the merits or the demerits, the dangers or the possible benefits, of any proposal which must be passed upon at the polls.

Fortunately this attempt to hoodwink the voters of Atlanta smacks so rankly of an effort at machine control that there is little probability of its being gotten away with.

It is an effort so unmitigated in its gall and so flagrant in its disregard of democratic principles that it is certain to receive the rebuke to which it is entitled.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Russian Princes Want to Return.

Most curious is the attitude of a growing number of young Russian princes now living in exile in Paris and Belgium. Most of these boys were too young to have participated in the revolution and counter-revolution in their homeland. Their parents brought them to safety. Somehow or other they have managed to pull through, studying at the expense of benevolent societies, relatives and wealthy French aristocrats.

With the five-year plan under operation and the whole world speaking and writing of the soviet union's achievements, many of these young aristocratic Russians feel pride of achievement in the work at home. "After all," said one of them to me, "the builders of the new Russia are also Russians. Those new writers are spiritual descendants of Dostoievsky and Tolstoi and Turgenieff. The new Russian music follows the evolution begun by Tchaikowsky. Why shouldn't we be proud? It's the Russian genius that works out its destiny."

"We wouldn't mind going back there. After all, our place is with our own people," declared another young prince of the blood.

But their parents will hear nothing of it. Opposition to the bitter end, which would mean, according to Kant, that the end will be bitter.

Revision.

Our economists tell us that business depressions move in cycles. Further, that the present crisis in the economic and financial situation will pass over, as other similar, but less acute crises have passed.

Just leave the thing alone, pay out a little charity here and there, retrench somewhat, put money back into circulation and by and by the topsy-turvy world will right itself again. We are not economists. But it seems to us that for economists, that is to say, men who were looked upon some time ago as the salt of the earth, the depositories of ultimate truth and the backbone of society, to talk that way is rather childish. The misery and destitution in Europe has reached a point where no mere palliatives will avail. Central Europe may collapse any day. When that happens what will happen to us in America?

The one country will drag down the other. It will become a chaotic maelstrom, a whirlpool of disasters and bankruptcies. As Victor Hugo once in a prophetic dream saw thrones and crowns carried away on the flood of time, so our most cherished institutions will be swept away.

There is yet time to save the situation. But there isn't much time. Where are those economists now? We need a plan, some plan badly. This drifting is going to land us in bedlam. There is nothing left to do but thoroughly revise our whole system and make it workable, or else let it be replaced by another system, that is inexorably, steadily, inevitably advancing to take its place.

EDWARD D. RITCHIE (Army Serial No. 562140), private, Company M, Forty-seventh infantry, fourth division, American Expeditionary force, awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action with the enemy near St. Thibaut, France, August 10, 1918.

While on an outpost near the Vesle river, Private Ritchie volunteered to accompany Corporal John S. Weimer in rescuing a wounded soldier who had been left by members of a patrol, in a shell hole some distance to the front. Under fire from machine guns and snipers, Private Ritchie and Corporal Weimer proceeded to the shell hole and found the wounded man, who was unable to walk.

Suggesting that the three of them in a group would make a more conspicuous target for the enemy, Private Ritchie offered to run ahead to draw the enemy fire while his comrade assisted the wounded man. He made his way back to shelter under continuous and direct machine gun and sniper fire while Corporal Weimer carried the wounded man to safety.

If the Foundation Timbers Are Used To Make the Building Higher, What Will Prevent Its Fall?

—By Robert Quillen—

One characteristic common to us all is an inability to see the woods for the trees.

In the present travail of civilization we are witnessing the birth pangs of a new order, but our attention is caught by details and we are scarcely aware of the great forces that are making history.

In America the economic system we call capitalism is slowly but surely destroying itself—not by its excesses and its evils, but by its success.

In this land of equality, as elsewhere, the people are divided into three classes: the wealthy capitalists, the middle class, and the proletariat.

The proletariat is composed of those who own neither land nor tools, but earn their bread by the sweat of their brows. They feel no dread of change, for they have little to lose.

The capitalists are those who control and manipulate industry, commerce and government. Theirs is the power of money, not of numbers.

The middle class is the class long typical of America. It is a conservative, church-going, money-saving class. Its children are sent to college. It believes in the government at Washington. And it believes in the sacredness of property.

It believes in the sacredness of property because it has possessions. It owns homes, farms, stores and small factories. It is a part of capitalism, and its numbers make it the shield and champion and hope of capitalism. It defends riches because it hopes some day to be rich.

And this is the class that capitalism is destroying. Great factories absorb small ones; monopolies drive out the independents; heartless competition bankrupts the little fellow.

And thus the little fellow who was middle class becomes a proletarian. He no longer owns goods or tools; he lives in a rented apartment—perhaps a furnished one. He no longer has a stake in capitalism. He has little to lose by change.

Do you realize what that means? Capitalism cannot survive in a free country without the numerical support of a prosperous, property-owning middle class.

When the proletariat becomes strong enough to enforce its will, the rule of capitalism is ended.

If congress can be dominated by such organized minorities as the Anti-Saloon League and the American Legion, will it dare disobey an organized majority proletariat?

Property is safe only so long as the majority has a share in it.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 23.—Conflicting rumors about Garbo have the colony in an uproar as her official term at M. G. M. is closed and no statements from the actress or the studio are to be had.

Aside from the fact that "Garbo is now a free agent," her former employers have nothing to say. They know nothing of her plans, they state. Her belongings have been removed from the studio lot and definite rumors from San Francisco say she will sail from that port . . . or take train from that hilly city, in the near future.

Meanwhile, the story has been circulated that she has released Harry Eddington as agent and manager and taken over Frank Orsatti, who is entertaining nothing less than $15,000 per week plans for her. A counter-denial to that rumor has stated that Garbo will continue with M. G. M. at that sum. The old rumor that she is finished with pictures persists.

Another story that she has made efforts to renew a year's lease on her Brentwood estate has been printed by Phil Scheuer. Garbo stalks through it all, calm as a Buddha, beautiful as never before, inscrutable and revealing her plans to nobody.

Women in general take notice. . . . This is the ideal female who has set the whole world by the ears through the simple trick of learning to hold her tongue and minding her business. The world has several beautiful and able actresses who do not inspire half the curiosity Garbo does. They are available to the naive public and they tell their thoughts, their ideals and their plans.

Joel McCrea will be Constance Bennett's leading man in her forthcoming picture, but the picture has not been decided upon. McCrea was lead for Constance Bennett once before, in "The Common Law," which wasn't such a torrid movie as might have been expected, but which made lots of money for its producers.

McCrea is a shy big fellow with some of the charm of Gary Cooper. He is embarrassed by autograph hunters, adoring women and envious men. He likes a few friends, lots of sun and exercise and a chance to work in pictures.

THE TREATMENT OF CATARACT.

The crystalline lens is in the interior of the eyeball and not in front or on the surface of it. When this normally clear lens becomes opaque in its substance the condition is known as cataract. Obviously it is not, as many laymen imagine, just a skin or a membrane or growth formed on the surface of the eyeball over the sight. And it is high time for every one to understand that only charlatans pretend to cure cataract without operation.

Sound general treatment, improvement of the patient's hygiene, proper medical attention to whatever underlying, perhaps contributing condition the general examination discloses, frequent changes of glasses to conform with the changes in refraction due to the developing cataract, and in some cases the regular use of medicines in the eyes to relieve or control associated disturbances, will retard the progress of the trouble if that is humanly possible. It must be remembered that many cataract patients under such care attain a hearty old age without serious impairment of vision. The laity should drop the quaint notion that cataract means blindness. Does a touch of rheumatiz mean that gran' must be sickabed with a doctor?

The cure of cataract is the removal of the lens. In children while the lens is still soft a special needle knife is introduced into the eye (absolutely painlessly) and the capsule of the lens is slit, to permit the aqueous humor within the eyeball to come in contact with the lens substance. This brings about absorption of the lens substance, leaving only the lens capsule. Later this capsule is divided, so that the passage of light rays is no longer impeded. In congential cataract this may be done a few months after birth, though the best time is at the age of 12 to 18 months.

In older subjects, when the lens is hard, it must be removed through a slit in the cornea or front window of the eye. This, too, is painless, and takes only a few minutes, though healing takes several weeks. In half the cases the one operation suffices; in the rest a secondary operation is necessary to clear the pupil of lens debris or bits of capsule which would otherwise remain as permanent blurs.

RUSSELL REFUSES DOBBS CLEMENCY, ASKED BY BOARD

dations in the matter and the solicitor-general who prosecuted the case is opposing clemency, particularly on account of the nature of the case, it involving malfeasance in a public office. Crimes of this nature are difficult of detection and proof and a democracy cannot survive without absolute honesty and rectitude on the part of all public officials in the discharge of the duties of public offices. While the evidence in the case was weak and unsatisfactory, the solicitor-general who prepared this case for trial should be more familiar with the case in all of its aspects than any other public official, and, in view of his opposition to clemency, it is direct drive for the favorite son strength which he will not get on the first ballot but must gather in later to win.

This week his managers have promised that 26 more delegates will gather in his fold, six Tuesday in Delaware, and 12 in Colorado and eight in Utah Saturday.

This would give him 599 votes, well over a majority if his supporters' claims to 105 in New York and Pennsylvania are included. It would be 171 short of the 770 required for nomination. After this week, only 122 democratic delegates are to be chosen, and of these Roosevelt men hope to gather in 98.

Despite this dominant position of the New York governor, however, Alfred E. Smith and the other anti-Roosevelt group are sticking to their contentions that the nomination will be plucked from his grasp. If they have agreed to whom they might toss the crown, though, they have carefully withheld their intentions.

NEGRO SEEKS TO CHANGE SOUTH CAROLINA PETITIONS

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—A. P. Prioleau, negro delegate from South Carolina to the republican national convention, said today he had sought the support of one of President Hoover's secretaries to make Luther W. Parker, of Charleston, S. C., the republican national committeeman from that state.

Prioleau conferred with Walter H. Newton, the presidential secretary, who generally deals with political matters.

The southern delegate declined to say what Newton's reaction had been to his suggestions.

REPUBLICAN IN LEAD IN RACE IN OREGON

PORTLAND, Ore., May 23.—(AP)—Representative Willis C. Hawley, republican, went into the lead today in his race for renomination when official returns from Marion county gave him 138 plurality over James W. Mott, state corporation commissioner. On the new count of the vote of last Friday's primary, Hawley had 30,714 votes and Mott 30,576.

HOOVER TO CONFER WITH PUBLISHERS

cratic senate leaders, Watson and Robinson, were among those who criticized it as uncalled for.

A colloquy that seemed to sum up the sentiments took place between Robinson and Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, who said nearly all the mail reaching the legislators "expresses the desire for balancing the budget, but—"

"But don't put any tax on me," supplied Robinson.

"That's right," Fess continued. "They say balance the budget but don't reduce this particular appropriation or put a tax on me."

This indicated to him that the writers "have no conception of our problems," and the only recourse he defined as "to go ahead doing the best for the country at large."

Praise Asked.

With the senate intently quiet, Watson spoke of those who signed the letter of yesterday:

"If these men knew, and they should know, instead of criticizing they would be praising us for the progress we have made and for the non-partisan way in which we have met the problems."

He praised the democratic co-operation.

Writing to Nicholas Murray Butler, Robinson said differences which have come "seem not so much attributable to sectional or partisan controversies as to varying economic viewpoints."

JOHNSON DEMANDS DRY REFERENDUM

California Senator Adds Voice to Growing Clamor for Change in Laws.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—Senator Johnson, republican, California, tonight demanded resubmission of prohibition while other prominent republicans were endeavoring to shape a moist plank which would conserve the party's dry support.

In his first declaration for resubmission, Johnson, who is bound lightly by party bonds, called on congress to stay in session until it had accomplished "resubmission of the 18th amendment."

He put this second in importance only to the tax bill, relief and appropriation measures, commenting "the prohibition law should be put up to the states."

Meantime, those favoring a plank which would oppose repeal but permit slow modification of existing liquor laws had encountered opposition from dry organization leaders. There were signs too that the president's advisers and Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, had split over the new prohibition proposals.

Borah is not going to the convention and he is not saying anything just now on his prohibition views.

A day filled with developments on the issue saw the house defeat another attempt to legalize 2.75 beer. Two prohibition leaders disagreed over whether Franklin D. Roosevelt was really wet at heart or a repealer for political gain only.

In addition to the cold reception from dry leaders, the suggested and indefinite republican plank also was assailed tonight by Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

"Every Monday morning," he said, "some dry republican politician puts out another trick plank about prohibition. Three weeks ago it was Hyde, the secretary of agriculture. Now it is Hyde with a new one.

Legislative Action.

"This week's plan is to bottle us up in state legislatures so that we have to get a two-thirds vote in each house of each legislature before anything can be done about repealing the 18th amendment. . . .

"I don't believe the republican platform is going to fall for any of these grotesque suggestions."

Dr. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, secretary of the national prohibition board of strategy, said he had been consulted by many republicans but had turned a deaf ear to all suggestions.

"Orders From the People."

"We are against any extra-constitutional method of making repeal of the 18th amendment easy," Dr. Dinwiddie said. "We've got our orders from our people and we will oppose any proposition that would be letting down on enforcement."

All republican plank proposals considered thus far have been tentative. Representative Snell, of New York, the house leader who is in line for permanent chairman of the national convention, predicted today the platform would contain a liberal plank on prohibition, but no one could tell what the details would be.

"It is pretty hard," said Snell, who has always voted dry, "to take a position that the people cannot express their sentiments on a vitally important economic and social problem."

Deets Pickett, research secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, started the argument over Governor Roosevelt's views with publication of an article in the April 5 issue of "The Voice," a board organ.

The article said if Roosevelt is nominated and elected the drys "will have no reason to feel that prohibition has been repudiated."

"Sop to the Wets."

Pickett added that Roosevelt's anti-prohibition statements were merely a "sop to the wets" to "hold his New York support" in the national convention, and it would be a "mistake to consider him to be what is ordinarily known as a 'soaking wet.'"

Dr. Dinwiddie was puzzled by the Pickett deduction.

"I can't get it!" he exclaimed. "I cannot see how any considerable number of drys could call this a correct statement of Mr. Roosevelt's prohibition position, in view of what Roosevelt himself has said. I cannot see them clinging to the notion that Roosevelt is dry when he himself says he is wet."

Little comment was forthcoming on the Roosevelt speech in Atlanta, which Senator Long, democrat, Louisiana, inserted in the congressional record after reading in the senate that part touching on a "wiser" distribution of the nation's wealth.

Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, a Roosevelt advocate, said he was chiefly interested in what Governor Roosevelt said about the need of the spirit of youth in experimenting with relief measures.

'KITCHENER KILLER' HELD IN NEW YORK

Lord Kitchener, secretary of war, had sailed for Russia on the Hampshire. Sailing with him, the story goes, was Duquesne, masquerading as a Russian officer. Duquesne signalled the German submarines by a prearranged signal. Torpedoes were launched. Kitchener died in the swirling waters. And the spy, reaching the submarine on a raft, was hauled inside, taken to Germany, decorated, loaded with honors and hailed as a hero.

SCOTLAND YARD SILENT ABOUT DUQUESNE CASE

LONDON, May 23.—(UP)—Scotland Yard officials said tonight they were "unable to recall" the case of Captain Fritz Joubert Duquesne, who was arrested today in New York after a 13-year hunt.

The officials said they might originally have asked American authorities to apprehend Captain Duquesne, but there had been no recent developments and they had not yet been notified officially of the arrest or identification of the fugitive.

HOUSE DEFEATS BEER PROPOSAL BY 228-169 VOTE

lated. With the support of Crisp, perhaps the ablest parliamentarian in the house, Speaker John N. Garner, democrat, Texas, overruled the motion. It was quite clear, he held, that one motion was purely for resubmission; this one for legalization of beer.

O'Connor Called.

O'Connor, perhaps feeling the enervating influence of a warm spring day, remained seated. Garner banged his gavel and asked, "Does the gentleman from New York desire to be recognized?" O'Connor did of course, and amid laughter from the easily amused house took charge of debate.

Blanton objected to the bill being read, and Representative Leonidas C. Dyer, republican, Missouri, and others objected to members' remarks being extended in the Congressional Record. One extension of remarks would have been President Hoover's long letter of Sunday night on unemployment relief.

Crisp opened debate against the motion, and consumed 7 1-2 minutes. His argument was that the house was not going to raise revenue by legalizing beer, hence there was no reason to vote for the motion.

"It is simply a moot question," he said. "A question whether the house wants to take the bill from the committee and consider it. In my opinion the ways and means committee will not bring in such a bill so long as the eighteenth amendment is in the constitution or the Volstead act in the statute books."

Blanton got the other two and one-half minutes of Crisp's time. He devoted it to a rendition of the denunciation of the alcohol by "that great agnostic Robert G. Ingersoll." Liquor, Ingersoll was quoted as saying, was the devil's best friend and God's worst enemy, slaying reputations, wiping out honor, murdering the soul—the sum of all crime. It was booed heartily at the end.

There was brief hope of a fight for a moment, when one member rose and another shouted for him to sit down. "Who said 'sit down,'" boomed the member. No one replied and the crisis passed.

O'Connor divided his time as follows: Fred A. Britten, republican, Illinois, 30 seconds; J. Charles Linthicum, democrat, Maryland, 60 seconds; Fiorello H. LaGuardia, republican, New York, 30 seconds; William J. Granfield, democrat, Massachusetts, 30 seconds; Wilbur M. White, republican, Ohio, 30 seconds; Adolph J. Sabath, democrat, Illinois, 60 seconds; Edgar Howard, democrat, Nebraska, one-time secretary to William Jennings Bryan, 30 seconds; Clarence J. McLeod, republican, Michigan, 30 seconds; Loring M. Black Jr., democrat, New York 30 seconds; Hull 90 seconds and himself the remainder.

McLeod waited for order and was gaveled down into his seat again before he said a word; Black, a fast talker, shouted: "New York democrats will of course vote wet. They fought the eighteenth amendment and the dry terrorism that follows. They fought for freedom and liberalism. I yield back the balance of my time."

There was little excitement, at the vote, and little applause. The house emptied quickly, and F. Scott McBride, prohibition leader, and other drys left the well-filled gallery with their checkup of the roll call.

SEABURY BARES WALKER DEALINGS

the mayor had directed his broker to turn over to Sherwood the necessary collateral for delivery to the bank.

Photostatic copies of letters linking Walker and Sherwood as principal and agent were attested to by J. C. Jacoby, one-time treasurer of the Federation Bank and Trust Company, with which the mayor was said to have dealt. They were marked in evidence in the face of objections by the democratic minority on the committee.

Abram H. Schwarz, treasurer of the Century Circuit, Inc., a theater holding concern, proved to be star witness of the day and fenced deftly with the counsel, Mr. Seabury, who handled him carefully and lost his temper only once.

Turning down a tendered waiver of immunity, the witness testified he had paid the mayor $2,000 in cash in May, 1925; $10,000 in stock in August, 1926—after Walker had been installed—and $3,028 by check in 1929 for services he refused to explain under the cloak of a client's relations with his counsel. He had a talk with the mayor at city hall in 1926 in which he recalled saying:

"I want to give you and your associates $10,000 in stock in my companies, Jimmy, in return for the legal services you gave me."

"Abe, I'm the mayor of New York now," he quoted Walker as replying, "you take the matter up with Sherwood. He's the office accountant. He transacts all the business."

The session was enlivened by a heated argument between witness and counsel at this point when Schwarz rejected Mr. Seabury's contention that $12,000 of the amount represented full payment of his debt to Walker and could not remember he had so testified in a private hearing. He muttered a remark under his breath and felt the lash of the counsel's tongue.

"Don't be impertinent," Mr. Seabury enjoined in the heat of the moment," you witnesses who come here and refuse to sign a waiver of immunity—" Chairman Samuel Hofstadter's gavel cut him off.

TAX LEAGUE HITS COUNTY "WASTE"

missioner Walter B. Stewart's 'payless vacation' plan is or is not the result of efforts of the Taxpayers' League. The league seeks no credit for economies effected. It seeks only results. We are delighted to see a step in the right direction, regardless of the motive that prompted it.

"We must say, however, that we have seen many county economy programs in the papers over the last several years. What has happened in the past is this: Grand juries bring in recommendations for drastic reduction in county expenses. There are invariable followed by public announcement of economies to be effected. These read very well, but a few months later we find that the county debt has gone up again. According to Commissioner Stewart's own announcement, it is even now increasing every day. The time has come when our people must have relief from the imposition of this county government. Petty economies mean nothing. The proposed saving of $90,000 in the remainder of 1932 is trivial. Our people demand something worth while.

"It is amazing to note in the same newspaper report of the 'payless vacation' plan that the county school teachers, who are said to receive from $75 to $120 per month, are asked to take a 16 per cent cut while the county pay roll is loaded with employes whose services are nothing like so necessary as that of the teachers, and whose salaries range from three to five times that of the teachers.

"We invite the attention of the commissioners to figures published recently showing that the county government can save approximately $700,000 a year in salaries alone. This is very different sum from the $90,000 suggested in Commissioner Stewart's statement. We invite attention also to the grand jury report of 1931, from which we quote: 'From all information at hand it appears that Fulton county's operation is bad from top to bottom and the waste of its funds has reached gigantic proportions.'

"The first step taken by the Taxpayers' League was to call attention to the commissioners themselves to the need for relief. Next, through public statements we called attention to the situation. There are other steps, drastic it is true, that can and most assuredly will be taken if the county government continues to oppress us."

FIGHT LAUNCHED ON REFERENDUM

Labor Leaders, Taypayers' League, City Officials Oppose Change.

A rising tide of opposition Monday presaged overwhelming defeat of the proposal to elect tax assessors by the people as city officials, the Atlanta Taxpayers' League, labor leaders and city employes joined in condemnation of the procedure.

Twenty-five of the 39 members of the general counsel, constituting a majority of the council and of the aldermanic board, were officially on record in opposition to the proposal, on which Atlantans will vote in a city-wide referendum Wednesday as a feature of the municipal primary.

Fred K. Stephens, president of the City and County Public Service Employes' Association, and Alderman John F. Scott, vice president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, were among the labor leaders to assert their opposition to "any such pernicious practice." Judge John L. Cone, of the second division of the recorders' court, also voiced his opposition, and Aubrey Milam, who will be nominated as a member of council from the eighth ward in Wednesday's primary without opposition, joined the general chorus.

Councilmen in Opposition.

Members of the council who Monday said they are in opposition to any change in the present system of selecting the assessors by election of council included Scott, Councilman George B. Lyle, Alderman Ben T. Huiet, Councilman Parks Rusk, Joseph W. Weaver, John A. White, H. Turner Loehr, John M. Owen, John T. Marler, Joseph E. Berman, Tom M. Smith, Horace M. Rantin and Raymond Curtis.

They joined Aldermen Farris A. Mitchell, J. C. Aldredge, Frank H. Reynolds, James R. Seawright, G. Everett Millican, Ed A. Gilliam and Alvin L. Richards and Councilmen Claude L. Barnwell, J. Frank Beck, James L. Wells, Homer C. Foster and Raleigh Drennon, all of whom previously had condemned the proposal as being "fraught with danger."

J. Ira Harrelson, president of the Atlanta board of education, and E. R. Sweat, chairman of the current expenditures committee, also have frowned on the proposed change, saying it might react to the detriment of the school system.

Walter B. Stewart, former chairman and now a member of the Fulton county commission, expressed apprehension regarding the effect such a procedure would have on county finances, and various city officials, including Mayor James L. Key, have expressed fear that it might throw the city into financial difficulties.

In addition to settling the referendum on whether tax assessors shall be elected by the people, 35,210 voters are entitled to cast ballots on selection of nominees to fill 27 city jobs from a field of 43 candidates. There will be 34 ballot boxes scattered throughout the city.

Text of Resolutions.

Text of the resolutions passed by the board of directors of the Taxpayers' League follows:

"We interpret the proposition as directed against the present board of tax assessors. While these gentlemen, in our opinion, have not sufficiently reduced assessments, we have no quarrel with them. We realize the extreme difficulties of their position.

"If they had reduced the assessments in 1932 in proportion to the present market value of real estate the city would not have been able to pay its bills this year.

"We regard them as honest and capable officials who are doing the best they can with a hard problem. We resent any effort to put political pressure on them.

"We are opposed to any referendum where the people are not given an opportunity to understand the full significance of it. We denounce the method by which this referendum is proposed and shall, ourselves, vote against the proposition.

"The board of directors ask every member of the Taxpayers' League to vote against it."

Statement to Voters.

Councilman White issued a statement to voters calling on them to destroy "the secret political machine" in scoring the contemplated action of the subcommittee of the democratic executive committee to withhold the matter on which the referendum was to be held until the voters visited the polls Wednesday morning.

The text of his statement follows:

"It is your duty as good citizens to go to the polls Wednesday and destroy the secret political machine of which is trying to control the sacredness of not only our ballot box, but also break down our city government, by placing things on the ballot that has not even been given consideration by the public, and try to force something down the pople which will eventually make citizens lose confidence in our democratic primaries, if such a precedent should be set.

"The matter is one of principle more than any other thing. I always favor an expression from the people on any matters affecting their government, after same has been duly given a public hearing, and due consideration, but if such a thing of placing important matters on the ballot, and the committee keeps it a secret till election day will lead to disaster and break down not only the principle of open government, but place in the hands of a few without due regard to the people the controlling factor of all matters they may desire to pay off political debts.

"The tax assessors, in my opinion, should be elected by council, so they can perform their duties without the interference of political leaders or political bosses, and assess property and not be threatened by any one, and it is to the best interest of the voters to frown on such proposal, and leave the matter as it is at present."

Stewart Opposes Change.

Text of Stewart's statement follows:

"While the county officials are reluctant to have anything to say about the city affairs, they are vitally concerned with the manner of electing the city tax assessors, inasmuch as the county's tax assessments are based upon those of the city. In my opinion the placing of the tax assessors before the people is that it would be a serious mistake since it would involve them in political campaigns, and this is one office that should be removed as far as possible from political influences."

Factionalism was eliminated in the unanimity with which all council members rushed to condemn the proposed change in selection of the assessors, warned of the dire results which might be visited on the municipality and called on Atlantans to defeat decisively the proposal.

Many Express Opposition.

Following are abbreviated quotations from those who expressed their opinions:

Stephens—"I do not think Atlantans have had enough time to carefully consider all angles of this matter, and I believe it should be defeated."

Scott—"It would react to the detriment of the city, I believe, and hope it will be definitely defeated."

Loehr—"It is pernicious and the most damnable suggestion made in many years. I feel that it should by all means be defeated and shall vote against it."

Huiet—"I oppose it. We had better let that division of the government stay as it is."

Weaver—"The assessors have a duty to perform which they can not do if they are subjected to the whims of politics."

Lyle—"This matter should have never been considered by the electorate on such short notice. I feel sure that when the citizens of the city realize the dire results which might follow that they will defeat it."

Milam—"I feel that this matter should be kept from politics as far as is possible. Such changes would react, I believe, to harm the city government, the schools and the everyday citizen."

"No Time to Change."

Owen—"I feel that the tax assessors should be selected by council. This is not the time to make a change even if one were contemplated."

Marler—"Citizens of Atlanta would do well to keep these jobs out of politics. We have a good group of assessors at this time, but a change such as has been suggested might work an irreparable damage to the city and the best interests of the working people as well as to large businesses."

Berman—"The proposal is foolish. It would inject the entire taxing system into politics. We have hard enough time meeting our tax obligations as they are, and we have no way of telling what would happen under such a system."

Smith—"Election of tax assessors by the people would be the worst thing for the masses. It would open the door for a privileged few. It is ridiculous."

Rantin—"I feel that all department heads should be elected by council and the mayor and council by the people. Only then will we be able to insure efficiency in government."

Rusk—"I am against the proposal. It should not be voted and I feel confident that the people of Atlanta will never give their sanction to any proposal which would place them at the mercy of any such political system."

Curtis—"We had better leave the tax assessors alone. "We have good men there now—men who are performing a difficult task for the benefit of the large majority of citizens. We should elect all department heads by council."

Yankees Defeat Athletics, 6 to 5, and Retain League Lead; Martin Eliminates Defending British Amateur Golf Champion

YANKS DEFEAT ATHLETICS, 6-5, STICK AT TOP

Sparkling Pinch Pitching Wins for New York Club.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Sparkling pinch-pitching of the kind the Yankees were supposed to be lacking beat the champion Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5, today, helped even the first two games of the series and kept the Yanks at the head of the American league.

Big Red Ruffing stepped in to the breach in the ninth inning with one out, a run already in, Al Simmons perched on third with the tying run, Jimmy Foxx on first, and forced Roettger to pop futilely and Williams to fly to the outfield.

George Pipgras held the A's in check up to the ninth with the exception of a three-run burst in the fifth, when Dykes walked, Leroy Mahaffey tripled and Roger Cramer doubled, but his wildness kept him in trouble. Two bases on balls, a hit batsman and Roettger's single added another in the eighth.

Ruffing came in to save the day after Cochrane walked with one out and Simmons and Foxx singled.

Mahaffey, young Athletic right-hander, held the Yanks to six hits, two less than Pipgras gave, but a walk, singles by Pipgras, Combs and Sewell in the third, coupled with Dib Williams' error, were good for four runs.

Three bases on balls, singles by Lary and Sewell, counted two more in the sixth.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Milton Gaston throttled the Cleveland Indians today with two singles and batted in the run necessary for victory, as the Chicago White Sox won the opening game of the series, 4 to 0, today.

Joe Vosmik got the first Indian hit in the second and Bill Cissell made the other one in the eighth. Gaston's single in the fourth scored Appling with the first and deciding run.

RED SOX 6; SENATORS 2.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The last-place Boston Red Sox turned into a formidable hard-hitting team today behind the effective pitching of their left-hander, Weiland, to down easily the second-place Nationals, 6 to 2.

Bobby Burke, left-hander, who pitched a no-hit game against Boston last year, started and the first batter, Van Camp, sent a whistling triple to right-center. Burke was removed in the second but neither Marberry nor Crowder, his successors, were particularly effective.

Jolly, heavy hitting and heavy-footed Boston outfielder, was slow in going after Manush's high fly in the first and it went for a homer. In the fifth, however, Jolly parked one of Marberry's pitches in the open stands in center field.

Griffiths Meets Roper on May 29

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP)—Tuffy Griffiths, Sioux City (Iowa) heavyweight, will return to competition for the first time since last September in a 10-round bout with Jack Roper, of Canada, [illegible]

Griffiths underwent an appendicitis operation after losing a decision to Ernie Schaaf September 23 in the Chicago stadium, and has layed off since.

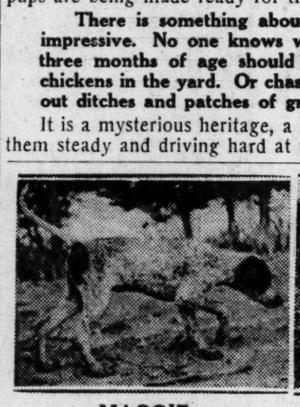

One thing about Atlanta—once aboard the lugger it requires but a few minutes to get out of the gasoline air and into the country where the air smells of plowed fields and spring things growing.

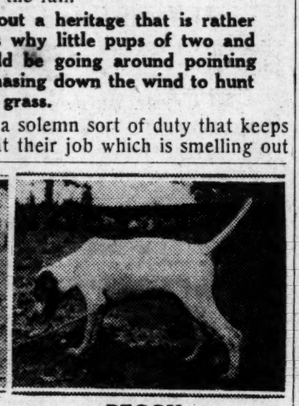

There was Monday afternoon, for instance. And a trip out to Luther Watson's farm, past Lithonia, where some hunting pups are being made ready for the fall.

There is something about a heritage that is rather impressive. No one knows why little pups of two and three months of age should be going around pointing chickens in the yard. Or chasing down the wind to hunt out ditches and patches of grass.

It is a mysterious heritage, a solemn sort of duty that keeps them steady and driving hard at their job which is smelling out birds and standing still until a man with a gun can come along and take a shot.

There is an old Irish story which says that a hound and a bird dog are the only dogs with souls, which souls may be seen in their eyes. There is a gentle spirit in them, too. Because no one ever saw a vicious fox hound. Nor did one ever see a pointer or a setter that did not greet any man with a wagging tail and happy eyes.

Monday afternoon there were two pups walking up and practicing on young chickens who ran about chirping as if in protest. And the puppies wore a look on their face which seemed to say, "Oh, well, go ahead and chirp. You are just serving as practice birds until fall comes with rustling leaves and sweet-smelling sage grass in which there are real birds with thunder in their wings."

There were two pups, Maggie and Peggy Porter, the former a sister of Sis Callie, the pup which won the southeastern Alabama trials last year, owned by Dr. George Myshrall. They are broken to the whistle.

Turned loose they whipped out over a hill, hunting out ditches, investigating clumps of grass, hustling over plowed ground, turning now and then to look for the arm that waved them on.

It was a grand sight. And it will be interesting to keep Maggie and Peggy in mind when the puppy stakes are run next fall in Alabama and Georgia.

TONY, THE PERSONALITY HORSE.

Tony, the white horse which holds the affection of all Fort McPherson, came through with a victory in the horse show at Piedmont park Monday afternoon, winning the class open to hunters and jumpers with Captain Albert Wing up.

Tony is well up in years. And Tony needs only a ruffled neckpiece of gay color to be a perfect harlequin. He comes out for the jumps minus all the prancing, nervous steps which the others in the field display. He knows that is just temperament which only the youngsters or those suffering from an inferiority complex display.

Tony is like an old top sergeant, the backbone of the army. The officers may come and go but Tony and the top sergeants go on forever. He comes out with no attempt at style. Tony knows that it isn't how the head is carried but whether one gets over the jumps that counts. And so Tony comes out, bobbing his head, taking a look around and getting over the jumps. It's just the old army game with Tony and it's no wonder they like him at Fort Mac.

A DIZZY PACE IN DIXIE BASEBALL.

On Saturday Si Rosenthal and Roy Carlyle, who had been doing most of the hitting for the Crackers, were let go by the officials.

On Monday Joe Schepner, manager of the Knoxville club, was given his release when the owners decided they wanted a playing manager.

Chattanooga and Memphis are setting a dizzy pace up the front. The remainder of the clubs are setting a dizzy pace with their many player maneuvers.

It becomes painfully necessary to remind the other seven owners in the Southern association that Joe Engel is the only owner using his noggin. The others keep clinging to the idea that baseball will draw people in. It won't. Baseball plus is the new requirement. There must be some player who has color and ability.

Joe Engel has those. But realizing these be strenuous times he has gone on with other things. Engel is carrying a "sympathy" band. It consists of a few colored boys with a few horns and a drum. And a tap dancer who can tap.

Engel also has out three sheets which he mails ahead of his team. They read to the effect that Joe Engel's great show, featuring The Great Mails, is coming to town on such and such a date. The three sheet ends with the statement—"No Advance in Prices."

Engel spends a few dollars in telegrams which become news stories. Engel manages to keep people talking about baseball, especially his baseball team.

The other owners can't explain a mild resentment which they feel for Engel. One is led to suspect [illegible] he is thinking and getting crowds while the others are fumbling and uncertain.

Other owners cannot complain and expect sympathy. Engel has shown that a good ball club can be built and that it can be made to draw money at the gate.

SHINE ON, HARVEST MOON.

Night baseball got started last night at Little Rock and will get away at Nashville tonight. Atlanta will turn on the arcs soon. So will Knoxville. It's an effort to harvest those admissions, a crop which has been hit hard by the boll weevil.

TULANE TAKES MAJOR HONORS IN CONFERENCE

Greenies Make 29 Points in Six Sports; Tarheels Second.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 23.—(AP)—Tulane University has won major athletic honors among Southern conference schools this year.

Based on points awarded for the first four finishers in the 10 branches of sport in which championships are recognized, the Greenies outscored all other teams. Five points were given for first place, three for second, two for third and one for fourth.

Tulane ran up 29 points in six sports. North Carolina was second with 19, Georgia third with 15 1-2, Duke fourth with 10 and Louisiana State fifth with 8.

Other team scores were Virginia 6, Tennessee 5, Auburn 3 1-2, Alabama 3 1-2, Sewanee 3, Virginia Polytechnic Institute 3, Florida 2 1-2 and Georgia Tech 1. South Carolina, Mississippi State and North Carolina State had 1-3 point each. Scoring was limited to football, basketball, boxing, cross-country, indoor track, outdoor track, team and individual golf and tennis singles and doubles.

Tulane captured first place in football, individual golf and tennis singles and doubles. Georgia won first in basketball, Virginia in boxing, North Carolina in cross-country, indoor track and team golf and Louisiana State in outdoor track.

Clifford Sutter, of Tulane, won the tennis singles and paired with his brother, Ed, to win the doubles. Jesse Rainwater Jr., of Tulane, took the golf title.

Georgia and Tulane were the only schools to score in as many as 6 of the 10 sports. North Carolina won five and Duke in four.

QUEEN HELEN, RYAN ADVANCE

AUTEUIL, France, May 23.—(AP) Helen Wills Moody, making her first appearance on French courts in two years, showed the gallery in Roland Garros stadium today that she has lost none of her court wizardry.

Paired with Elizabeth Ryan she reached the quarter-finals of women's doubles in the French tennis championships.

Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan, American now living in London, defeated Violette and Jacqueline Gallay, French sisters, without the loss of a game, 6-0, 6-0, in the second round. They had a first round bye.

Helen Jacobs, the other American contender, in women's play, was not so fortunate. Paired with Gregory Mangin, who is here with Sidney B. Wood Jr., as representative of the International Tennis Club of New York, she lost to Mlle. Rosie Berthet, of France, and Pieree Grandguillot, Egyptian Davis cup player, 6-3, 6-2, in the first round of mixed doubles.

In the quarter-finals of the doubles with Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan are Betty Nuthall and Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, of England, and Mme. Rene Mathieu and Collette Rosambert, the French pair.

Jean Borotra and his French partner, Mlle. Josane Sigart, won two matches in the mixed play to advance to the quarter-finals.

WEST ATHLETES OLYMPIC BETS

CHICAGO, May 22.—(UP)—Berths on the Olympic team have been reserved for five Big Ten athletes as a result of their efforts in the Western conference track and field championships. Several others showed Olympic possibilities, but, barring untoward events, Don Bennett and Jack Keller, of Ohio State; George Saling, of Iowa; Henry Brocksmith, of Indiana, and John Brooks, of Chicago, will wear the Red, White and Blue shield at Los Angeles this summer.

Michigan, which won the team championships for the 12th time, did not exhibit an outstanding individual star, rolling up 50 1-2 points on all-round team strength. Ohio State was second with 46 1-2 and Indiana third with 43 1-2.

The outstanding performance of Saturday's meet was contributed by Keller, who ran the 120-yard high hurdles in 14 seconds, four-tenths of a second faster than the world's record and two-tenths of a second faster than the American A. A. U. record made by Percy Beard last winter indoors.

Keller was aided by a brisk wind at his back, as were all athletes who participated in the dashes and hurdle races down the straightway. Keller's mark will not be given official recognition.

Keller won the high hurdles, but pulled a tendon in his leg during the running of the 220-yard low hurdles and had to quit.

Saling, who was only inches back of Keller in the high hurdles, won the low hurdles in the world's record time of 23 seconds.

Bennett won the 100-yard dash in 9.5 seconds and the 220-yard dash in 20.5 seconds, equalling the recognized world's record in the century and clipping one-tenth of a second off the world's standard in the furlong.

Oldfield Passes Up Memorial Day Race

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 23.—(UP)—Barney Oldfield, veteran racing car driver, decided today that he would have to give up plans to drive the 500-mile Memorial Day race.

Oldfield said he intends to try to break the world's speed record, held by Malcolm Campmell, of England, in spurts at Daytona Beach, Fla., this summer.

Big Red Goes Over the Top at Piedmont Park

Big Red, a Sixth cavalry horse, is seen taking off for a successful jump in the jumper's class at Piedmont park Monday in the concluding day of the Atlanta horse show. Sergeant Cotton, veteran cavalryman, was up and won the event with his entry. Below is Beau Garcon, owned by T. W. Fletcher, of Avondale, ridden by Bob Young, as she appeared winning the three-gaited saddle horse class. Photo by George Cornett.

Jumping Championship Won by Pharaoh's Echo

Atlanta Horses Show Well on Final Day of Show at Piedmont Park.

By Jimmy Jones.

Atlanta's fourth annual horse show came to a spectacular close yesterday afternoon in the green oval at Piedmont park, where a full-sized gallery watched Pharoah's Echo, a sleek, sable-coated gelding from the Sixth cavalry, Fort Oglethorpe, romp over the barriers to win the championship jumping stake with Captain Tom Herrin in the saddle. The event was postponed from opening day.

A spirited, rapid-fire drill by the Sixth cavalry ended one of the finest exhibitions of good horseflesh the horse show association has sponsored.

And to bring the affair to a new peak of local interest, Atlanta-owned horses scored places in nearly all of the classes. John K. Ottley furnished a double winner with his chestnut gelding, Chief of the Cherokees, which won the combination harness and saddle event and was best in the five-gaited gelding saddle horse class.

John M. Ogden's gelding, Thunder Bolt, ridden by Mrs. Wilshire Riley, was the class of the five-gaited saddle horses, second event of the day, and on through the lists Atlanta sportsmen furnished standout entries.

ONLY SPILL.

The spunkiest performance of the day, however, was that of a lady and an out-of-town rider from the Fort Benning infantry school, Mrs. Landon Lockett. Mrs. Lockett was the heroine of the only bad spill of the day when her horse, Fresno, competing in the hunters' class, shied at a brush barrier, stumbled and fell headlong, throwing Mrs. Lockett in front of him. She came out from the horse's hoofs unhurt and gamely remounted amid huzzas to clear the remaining jumps.

Her chief concern was her mount, for the first question she asked as she sat in a daze, was "Where's my horse?"

Monte Carlo, front ranking favorite by virtue of past performances, nicked a bar and came off second in the championship jumping stake, This Fort Oglethorpe entry was given a gallant ride by Lieutenant Hode. Fort McPherson shared the other two places with the sixth cavalry with Brown Eyes, ridden by Warrant Officer Shubert, taking third prize, and Maudelia, with Major Reese Howell up, carrying off fourth.

ATLANTA ENTRIES.

Atlanta entries featured most of the other classes. April Day, John M. Ogden's beautiful black mare, was best in the rich three-gaited saddle horse stake with T. W. Fletcher's Beau Garcon, a gelding, taking second prize. April Day also was first in class 2, three-gaited event, with Beau Garcon winning class 1.

In the combination event which Mr. Ottley's Chief of the Cherokees won, Miss Eugenia Candler rode her horse, Louise Long, to third prize. Stepping Thru, an out-of-town entry by E. L. Kittrell, of Chattanooga, was second in this event, while Hugh Richardson, another Atlantan, furnished the fourth prize winner with his Richelieu's Lee Rose.

In the first five-gaited saddle horse event, Herbert D. Oliver Jr. took second prize with his Count Lee Rose, while Dewitt King's stable, which has furnished some good horses in this show, won third prize with his John P., ridden by Rufus King. Hugh Richardson made this event a solid-Atlanta sweep by sending King Hildred, his bay gelding, out to capture fourth prize. Miss Josephine Richardson was in the saddle.

PRETTY RIDING.

Some of the prettiest riding of the day was seen in the children's horsemanship class with Atlanta youngsters sweeping the awards, while in the junior jump the first performances were so clean that the juvenile riders had to be summoned back to the ring.

Little Miss Jean Oliver won the jumping class for riders under 16 with

JOE SCHEPNER IS RELEASED

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 23.—(AP)—Release of Joe Schepner, manager of the Knoxville Smokies, Southern association club, and appointment of Bernie Neis, outfielder, as playing manager was announced today by Edgar Allen, secretary.

"Schepner's work has been satisfactory," Allen said, "but because of the necessity of cutting expenses due to general baseball conditions we felt we could not carry a non-playing manager."

Neis was purchased by Knoxville from Minneapolis, of the American association. He formerly played with Brooklyn of the major leagues.

Schepner was manager last year of the Vicksburg (Miss.) club of the Cotton States league.

Smokies Release Stuffy Stewart.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 23.—(AP)—The release of Stuffy Stewart, Knoxville second-baseman and record holder in the Southern association for stolen bases, was announced today by the Knoxville management.

Knoxville had Stewart on option from the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league. Stewart will be replaced by Jack Sheehan, member of the 1931 Atlanta club.

Grimes' Alimony Decision Reserved

CANTON, Ohio, May 23.—(AP)—Burleigh A. Grimes, veteran spitball pitcher, now with the Chicago Cubs, admitted in court here that he is nearing the end of his career in the big leagues.

Grimes told Judge Joseph L. Floyd during a hearing of his divorced wife's application for permanent alimony, that he purchased a farm near St. Louis last year so that when he is through with baseball he can retire there. Judge Floyd reserved decision on the alimony case.

UPHILL FIGHT GIVES MARGIN TO NEW YORKER

Smith Loses, One Up. Three Other Americans in Second Round.

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 23.—(AP)—Leonard Martin, champion of metropolitan New York, provided the sensation of the opening day's play in the British amateur golf championship today.

He rallied after being four down at the 11th to defeat Eric Martin Smith, defending titleholder, 1 up.

Martin led three other Americans into the second round of the title event as four more fell by the wayside. Three matches involving Americans were postponed until tomorrow on account of darkness.

Winning with Martin were Ross Tompson, of Uniontown, Pa., who defeated E. C. Bowen, of the Ladbrook Park Club, 2 up; Douglas Grant, a former California champion, long resident in England, who won from W. S. Peacock, of the Kilmacolm Club, 2 and 1; and Robert Sweeney, the Oxford student, who defeated Captain J. R. Pelham-Burn of the Royal and Ancient, 2 and 1.

Paul Azbill, an American ex-patriate entered from Sunningdale, lost to the young Scotsman who defeated Bobby Jones here in 1926, Andrew Jamieson, 6 and 5; Clive Alvord, of Greenwich, Conn., fell before E. Watson, Scottish player, by the same score; Stuart Scheftel, now living in London, lost to Lieutenant Colonel P. G. M. Skene, 2 and 1; and Frank Sweeney, brother of Robert, lost to A. J. Peech, of Worplesdon, 6 and 4.

Leonard Martin staged a fine comeback to defeat the British titleholder, Smith conceding him the match on the final hole as Martin lay seven yards from the pin in two and the Englishman was still short after three strokes.

Martin will play John McCredie, the Edinburgh star, in the second round tomorrow.

CUP QUALIFYING TIME EXTENDED

Handicaps will apply in each of the matches, it was decided by the tournament committee and prizes will be given to the winner and runner-up in each flight.

Moore To Manage Jersey City Club

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 23.—(AP)—Charley Moore, manager of the Hartford team of the Eastern league, today was appointed manager of the Jersey City club of the International league, succeeding Hans Lobert, who was given his unconditional release. Both teams are owned by the Brooklyn National league club.

The only reason given for Lobert's release was his failure to get the Skeeters out of the rut after being sent reinforcements by Brooklyn.

Brazil Is Out With Injured Leg

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 23.—(AP)—An old-fashioned "charley horse" will keep Frank Brazill, Chickasaw first-baseman, out of the Memphis lineup for a week, Manager Doc Prothro said today. Andy Reese, outfielder, will continue in the first-base assignment until Brazill recovers.

Fifteen Atlanta Golfers, Headed by Ball, Leave for Meet

PRO-AMATEUR EVENT IS FIRST TO BE PLAYED

Southeastern P. G. A. Championship Begins Wednesday.

By Roy White.

Fifteen Atlanta golfers will leave the city early this morning for Macon, Ga., where they will compete today, Wednesday and Thursday in the annual southeastern professional golfers' championship tournament over the Idle Hour Country Club course.

Errie Ball, 20-year-old assistant pro at the East Lake Country Club, will head the list in the defense of his 1931 title and will have George Sargent, East Lake pro; L. R. Hunter, Charlie Yates, Georgia and Atlanta amateur champion, and Scott Hudson Jr., from East Lake; Albert Jones, pro, and T. E. Tolleson and A. J. Cochran from West End; Howard Beckett and Willie Livingstone, pros, and R. A. McCord, from Capital City; Jimmy Livingstone, pro from Ingleside; Billy Wilson, pro from Piedmont park, and Gene Dahlbender and Dan Sage Jr., amateurs from Ansley Park, as representatives from the Gate City to contest the title. Several others are likely to decide to go at the last minute.

ALREADY THERE.

Billy Wilson and Jimmy Livingstone went to Macon early Monday morning to get in a practice round before the opening of the tournament Tuesday afternoon.

An 18-hole pro-amateur match this afternoon will precede the regular 72-hole Southeastern P. G. A. championship play which starts Wednesday morning with the final 36 holes scheduled for Thursday.

Although they cannot compete for the cash prizes, amateurs may play throughout the 72-hole competition and receive trophies and golf merchandise for their winnings.

Four low scorers among the professionals will represent this district at the National P. G. A. tournament scheduled for the early fall on one of the eastern courses.

LARGE FIELD.

According to reports from Macon, the field will be one of the largest in recent years and competition will be keener than ever before. There is more prize money for the pros than last year, which helped swell the entry list.

Errie Ball, due his great play in recent weeks, when he has been shooting the East Lake courses consistently in par figures, will be one of the favorites to win the title for the second successive year. He won the Atlanta open Friday afternoon with a great comeback on the final 18 holes, when he equalled par under unfavorable weather conditions.

Dan Goss, of Birmingham, is president of the Southeastern P. G. A. and, together with George Norrie, the Idle Hour pro, will be host during the three days' play.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Grantland Rice

Looking Back.

Just 31 years ago I sat in the press box with another young baseball reporter watching Birmingham and Nashville battle for a Southern league pennant. The other young baseball reporter was Bozeman Bulger, whose sudden death on Sunday brought a shock to thousands of friends, a death which must be held as a national loss. That day in the old Southern league press box was a long time ago, but the years had taken no toll from Boze Bulger in any way at ll.

We sat together again at the 1932 opening in New York, recalling the time when Birmingham fired its manager, who promptly stole the home plate and sold it for $5.

We tried to figure out how many words each of us had written on sport since that first press box meeting in 1901, but after passing the 25,000,000-mark on each side we gave up the problem.

Boze Bulger had a spirit that was beyond the heavy grip of time. It seemed to me that he grew younger as the years slipped away. He could say with Victor Hugo, "The snows of winter may be on my head, but the sunshine of eternal spring is in my heart." He was light in the dark places, the type of man a world always needs.

One might repeat for Boze Bulger the verse written at Hughey Keogh's death:

"Goodbye, old scout,
and once again goodbye;
The umpire called you out—
I wonder why?"

Heine Meine in Again.

The St. Louis Dutchman they call the Count of Luxembourg, namely, Heine Meine, has bounced back into the Pittsburgh fold, completing another cycle in his curious career. The fact that the Pirates languish in last place forced the compromise with this most persistent of the 1932 holdouts, who is supposed to have settled on the basis of an $11,500 contract.

More than one club in the National league thought about relieving the Pirates of their worry over Meine, but he's back with the club that he handsomely decorated all last season. Heine had to work with an outfit which lacked batting punch, especially in the early stages of the race, and which carried on a run of bad luck for the third year. Pie Traynor, the Waners and Heine Meine were the chief exhibits on view in Pittsburgh last season.

Meine's holdout situation was interesting because it duplicated something that happened a few years ago, when Heine was on Branch Rickey's pay roll. After starting with Beaumont of the Texas league in 1921, Meine came under the St. Louis Browns' influence, played with San Antonio and Wichita Falls of the Texas league in 1923, and with Syracuse the next two years. When Meine concluded his fine 1931 pitching campaign he said it reminded him of his Syracuse days, when he had everything a pitcher could want. That was before he began with Pittsburgh and became known as just an average pitcher, perhaps a little too easy for the rival batsmen.

In his two years with Syracuse, Meine won 27 and lost only 13, and began to have big ideas. So when Branch Rickey came to him and suggested a cut in salary because Syracuse wasn't coining money, Meine balked. He continued to balk and had himself traded.

Exactly the same thing happened this year. Meine was the hardest working pitcher in the National league last season. He hurled 22 complete games, worked 284 innings, won 19 games against 13 lost, and yielded an earned run average of 2.98. And all this he did with a fifth place club.

Meine burst forth last season with a new ball and a sweeping curve, which surprised all his old customers. Hitters, who had been instrumental in holding him to seven victories in 1929 and six in 1930 were baffled by his change for the better. Meine himself ascribes it to his doggedness in laying off at the end of the 1930 season, just after he had won three straight on the last eastern trip—which he had not wanted to take, by the way. And a tonsil operation also gave him new pep. When new zest comes to an ex-blacksmith, no wonder things hum in his vicinity.

But after Meine had edged into the limelight last season, the Pirates' management came through with a bear story on salaries. Again Meine's hopes of a salary befitting his record were doomed. Although he has been on the sidelines since the start of the season, Meine hasn't sung the refrain, "I can do just as well at home." He likes to play ball and knows that's where his money lies.

One more good pitcher of Meine's class will help the Pirates a lot. Last year the Dutchman had particularly good luck in combatting the champion St. Louis Cards, but it's not for this season that he was snared. So far this year Pittsburgh has done better against the champions than against any of the other clubs in the loop. They meet again Friday and Saturday, when Meine will probably get his chance. He was a fine finisher last year, wining five home games in September, winding up with a 3-to-2 victory over the Phils in 13 innings.

More Princeton Success.

Each new sports season at Princeton does its bit to banish the memories of that lamentable 1931 football campaign. Now it's the track team that has finished its dual meet season without a defeat, winning the erstwhile big three title, and generally bringing distinction to the jungle. With eastern championships in basketball and track, the Tiger says, "forget that football misadventure."

Grant Is Named Tarheel Captain

CHAPEL HILL, May 23.—(AP)—Bryan Grant, rising senior from Atlanta, Ga., was today elected captain of the University of North Carolina tennis team for next year.

He played No. 1 on this year's Tarheel team and was the undefeated ace of an undefeated team.

He is a former southern and national clay courts champion and was ranked 12th on the national tennis ladder this year.

There were no seniors on the team this year, and the Tarheels played without a captain.

Jockey Killed, 2 Injured In Race

CLEVELAND, May 23.—(AP)—One jockey was killed and two others hurt as five horses and their riders went down in a heap at the Bainbridge race track late today.

Charles Pegg, of Baltimore, upon Chorister, died of a fractured skull and internal injuries while being taken to a hospital.

Jose Hernandez, of New Orleans, riding Phi Delta, which was leading the field in the third race, suffered similar injuries and at St. Alaxis hospital it was said his condition was critical.

Willie Carroll, of Latonia, Ky., was slightly injured. The other jockeys, Lee Hardy and Tracy Reno, were involved in the pile-up, but escaped with a shaking up. Reno's mount, Erin Go Bragh, was killed.

Spectators said Phi Delta apparently cut out from the fence and with the next four horses went down in a struggling mass. None of the riders, however, was able to give a clear account of what happened.

The tragedy came on only the second day of the current meet at Bainbridge, which opened Saturday.

HORSE SHOW ENDS AT PIEDMONT PARK

Sport, her trim little mare, while Master Jack Savage took second prize with Bess, a beautiful, high leaper. Ted De Saussure, son of Captain E. H. De Saussure, of the sixth cavalry, rode like a young Cossack and distinguished himself by piloting two steeds, Hell Rock and Peter, to third and fourth places, barely beating his brother, Charlton, who was aboard Daisy in the last victory.

Miss Oliver also scored with Little Bit in the combined class for children, aged 10 to 12 and 13 to 16, inclusive, while Master James Sibley was the other first on Southern King.

Hogan, Lady and Tarzan, all from sixth cavalry, took first, second and third prizes in the troopers' mount, being ridden by Corporal Tew, Corporal Davis and Sergeant Tower in order named, while Julia Mae, a Fort Benning entry, won the polo pony class, carrying up to 160 pounds with Lieutenant H. M. Monroe at the reins. Mabuty, ridden by Major John B. Thompson, of Benning, was second, and Grove Cullum, ridden by Captain Herrin, third.

Tony, veteran gray jumper of Fort McPherson and an old favorite in the horse shows, won the first jumpers' event with the equally popular Captain Albert G. Wing riding him. Pharoah's Echo was second and Brown Eyes third. Big Red, of the sixth cavalry, ridden by Sergeant Cotton, was first in the enlisted men's mounts.

VETERAN HORSEMAN.

Captain Gordon Johnston, who served with Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders in '98 and who holds every military decoration awarded, rode Atalanta to a popular victory for sixth cavalry in the Polo Pony (up to 190 pounds) events. Light Foot, entered by J. Lee Hopping Jr. and ridden by Dickie Stevens, Atlanta, was first in the saddle pony class; Miss Margaret Kittrell, of Chattanooga, won a popular victory with Amber Springtime in the five-gaited saddle mares class, with T. W. Fletcher's Georgiana Peavine second. John M. Ogden's Autumn Leaf was third.

Mrs. Carl Ramspeck rode Tech Golden Gornado to second place in the five-gaited geldings' class, which was won by Ottley's Chief of the Cherokees. Golden Tornado was entered by Holland P. Judkins. Mr. Ogden's Thunder Bolt was third and Dewitt King's John P. fourth.

Watonga, with Lieutenant J. K. Baker up, captured the Hunters' class for old Fort "Mac." It was in this event that Mrs. Lockett got her severe spill.

Hon. Henry S. Caywood, of North Middletown, Ky., and Colonel Lewis Brown Jr. did a highly satisfactory job of judging. Mr. Caywood took a train early for Chicago, where he is to judge the South Side show. He will officiate at Madison Square Garden later. Mrs. Willard Patterson was the efficient publicity director for the show.

Yesterday's program was run off almost exactly to schedule with few hitches or delays. The gallery showed its appreciation of this by maintaining a watchful interest throughout.

U. S. CUP TEAM FACES BATTLE IN QUALIFYING

Australia, Led by Crawford, Is Real Threat to Americans.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(UP)—After years of almost lazy drifting into the interzone final, the United States Davis cup team of 1932 will have a real fight on its hands before it wins its right to Europe, Bernon S. Prentice, chairman of the United States cup committee, told the United Press today.

The United States team plays an Australian squad, headed by the brilliant veteran, Jack Crawford, in the North American zone final at Philadelphia Country Club, Friday, Saturday and Monday.

"Crawford has made remarkable strides since his presence in the United States several years ago," Prentice said. "He is almost certain to win one of his singles—maybe both. His participation in the doubles would give the invaders an even chance of victory, thus possibly leaving the issue to be decided in the other singles match."

Prentice pointed out that John Clemenger, captain-manager of the Australian team, firmly believes his squad will win the zone final and meet the European finalist (probably Great Britain) in Paris, July 22.

Prentice said the four members of the United States team, Wilmer Allison, Ellsworth Vines, Frank Shields and John Van Ryn, are holding intensive, twice-daily practices at Bala, Pa.

The most significant development of the workouts has been the vast improvement in Shields' play. Before the outdoor season was started Vines had been looked to as the one big United States hope. Allison's record, however, has been much more impressive, and if any change in the singles lineup is made, it would be Shields for Vines.

There is a good reason why this might be done: Vines is steadier than Shields in the pinches.

Actually, the dominant figure in the Australian-United States tie is Crawford, field leader of what may be the strongest team sent from the Antipodes since 1914 when the combination of Norman E. Brookes and Anthony Wilding captured the cup from the United States at Forest Hills.

LEHMAN MEETS HESSLYN TONIGHT

The grapplers return to town tonight, appearing on L. C. Warren's card at the City Auditorium. The card features two wrestlers who have appeared a number of times in the south and two who are making their first invasion below the Mason and Dixon line.

In the main bout Charlie Lehman, the tricky and versatile Texan, meets Jim Hesslyn, the Australian. This will be a two-hour bout and the winner earns a match here with Gus Sonnenberg on June 7.

There will be a one-hour match featuring Marion Plestina, who is said to have lost only four matches in eight years, and John Podubney, a 215-pound Russian.

Neither wrestler has ever appeared in the south.

A 15-minute preliminary will open the show at 8:30 o'clock. Doc Lanford is to referee all matches.

Tickets may be had today up to 7 o'clock at Five Points Soda Company.

Speer and Dusek To Meet Here.

Henry Weber announced a card for the baseball park next week with Ernie Dusek, brother of Rudy, and Frank Speer in the main event. Paul Jones and Tom Marvin will meet in the semi-windup of Weber's card. Both matches will be 90 minutes time limit. Weber's card will be the first outdoor match of the season.

GOLDSTEP WINS OPENING EVENT

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP)—Chicago's metropolitan racing season opened today for a 30-day meeting at Washington park with a surprise victory for Goldstep, the hard luck horse of Aurora, in the $5,000 added Washington park handicap.

Goldstep, purchased only three days ago by Mrs. S. H. Fairbanks, of Baltimore, for $3,000, made a show of the crack sprinters, including Silverdale, Tannery and Ladder in winning the six furlong dash by three lengths.

Silverdale, the warmly-backed favorite, finished second and Ladder for third money. The time was 1:12. There were 13 starters.

The winner was so lightly regarded that he was grouped in the field, along with three others. Goldstep, a 5-year-old son of Sweep On-Golden Stairs, was ridden by Jockey Herman Schutte who was taking things easy as he brought Goldstep over the finishing line, to the surprise of 15,000 spectators.

Goldstep's victory was worth $5,290 to Mrs. Fairbanks. He rewarded his backers at the rate of $32.74 straight, $12.14 place and $6.50 to show.

With the opening of the Washington park season, racing will run continuously until October 31. During the 30 days at Washington park, there will be seven stakes decided, ranging from $5,000 added to the $50,000 American Derby, to be run Saturday, June 18.

Joe Knight Beats Canadian Champion

ARENA, BOSTON, May 23.—(AP)—Joe Knight, Cairo, Ga., light-heavyweight, tonight won a decision over Charlie Belanger, of Winnipeg, in the Argonne A. A.'s 10-round feature. Knight weighed 177 and the Canadian 182.

Knight piled up an impressive lead in the first four rounds but took terrific body punishment during all of the other six rounds.

The southerner wilted badly in the fifth when Belanger, one of Max Schmeling's sparring partners, shifted his attack to the body.

Belanger's left jab kept Knight off balance in all of the late rounds and many times he shook his rival with heavy rights to the jaw.

Knight flashed in the final session, scoring several heavy lefts to the head.

The decision was highly unpopular.

TWO QUEER CARS JOIN QUALIFIERS AT INDIANAPOLIS

Four-Wheel Drive Job and Midget Racer Make 500-Mile Test.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 23.—(AP)—The two newest things in automobile race cars—a four-wheel drive speedster and a fantastic looking four-cylinder job—were qualified today for the annual 500-mile race to be run here next Monday.

Bob McDonogh, Detroit, piloted the car equipped with driving axles on each of the four wheels at a speed of 113.279 miles per hour.

H. W. (Stubby) Stubblefield, of Los Angeles, drove the four-cylinder creation at 112.899 miles per hour, a flat tire slowing him down in the final lap after he had bettered the time made by Lou Moore, Hollywood, Cal., who won the pole position last Saturday at 117.363 miles per hour.

Phil (Red) Shafer, Des Moines, Iowa, veteran, also qualified today, putting his semi-stock speedster into the race with an average of 110.708 miles per hour. Twenty-six cars have qualified to date.

The car driven by McDonogh is the newest product of Harry Miller, noted Los Angeles race car builder.

The driver, at his option, may cut out the rear drive feature and make it a strictly front drive car. McDonogh declared the feature imparting equal pushing or pulling power to each wheel made the sharp turns of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway track much easier to negotiate.

Stubblefield's car is the same one in which he established straightaway records from one to five miles for a four-cylindered motored racer in the west last week. It has virtually no nose, and is equipped with a fin on the tail.

WOMEN GOLFERS INVADE SAUNTON

LONDON, May 23.—(AP)—With the Anglo-American team matches at Wentworth out of the way, American girl golfers headed today for Saunton in North Devonshire for the strongest attack ever made on the one British golfing title that has eluded American hands.

Fourteen Americans are entered, including the six international team players who defeated the British 5 1-2 to 3 1-2, besides four French women and two Australians, making a cosmopolitan list. France has won this British title twice but the nearest America has got to it was when Glenna Collett, now Mrs. Edwin H. Vare, was runner-up at St. Andrews in 1929 and at Formby in 1930. Joyce Wethered defeated her in 1929 and Diana Fishwick the next year.

The French entries are Mme. Rene Lacoste, wife of the tennis player and who, as Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume, won the championship in 1927; Mme. Robert Thion de la Chaume, who, as Mlle. Nanette La Blanc, was winner the following year; Mme. A. M. Vagliano, wife of the French amateur star and Mlle. Petin. The Australian players are Susie Tolhurst, Australian champion in 1930, and Cecily Lascelles.

Britain will be well defended despite Joyce Wethered's decision not to compete. Enid Wilson will defend the title she holds and will be supported in resisting the overseas challenge by Wanda Morgan, the English champion, Miss Fishwick, Molly Gourlay, Jean McCulloch, the Scottish champion, Miss I. Rieben, who has just won the Welsh title, Miss E. C. Pentony, Irish champion, and other leading women golfers.

In the galaxy of American talent are three winners of the American championship — Mrs. Vare, Marion Hollins and Helen Hicks—and the Canadian titleholder, Maureen Orcutt. The other team members are Virginia Van Wie, Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Mrs. Leona Cheney and Mrs. Harley Higbie. Other Americans entered are: Ruth Batchhelder, of Boston; Mrs. C. Kyrle Bellew, Los Angeles; Mrs. W. M. Ferris, of Boston; Virginia Holzderber, Baltimore; Mrs. Earl F. Reef, Pittsburgh, and Rosamond Sherwood, of Stockbridge, Mass.

Mississippi Woman Wins Medal Honors

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 23.—(AP)—Deadly accuracy with approaches and putts gave Mrs. Ben Fitzhugh, of Vicksburg, the Mississippi women's champion, medalist honors today in the sixth traps-Mississippi women's golf tournament in a play-off with Iowa's brilliant young champion, Miss Lucille Robinson, of Des Moines.

Mrs. Fitzhugh turned in an 81 on the play-off, four more than she and Miss Robinson took earlier in setting a course record for women.

Miss Robinson started the play-off with a nine on the No. 1 par five hole, going four strokes down from which she partially recovered but later bowed to some breath-taking putting by the Mississippian and lost the match by seven strokes.

Mrs. Fitzhugh tomorrow will meet Mrs. Anne Kennedy Parish, of Tulsa, in the first match play of the tournament. Miss Robinson meets Mrs. Jack Summers, Muskogee, Okla., whose 96 barely got her in the championship flight.

Other pairings in the championship flight are:

Miss Anelia Gorcyzca, Fort Worth, (89), vs. Mrs. H. H. Silverford, Kansas City, (89).

Mrs. D. W. Snyder, Kansas City, (85), vs. Mrs. Fred A. Dowling, Kansas City, (89).

Mrs. Tom Wallace, Sapula, Okla., (87), vs. Mrs. S. G. Topkins, Texarkana, (93).

Mrs. George Thompson, Fort Worth, (83), vs. Mrs. Hulbert Clarke, Oklahoma City, (94).

Mrs. Stanley Alexander, Little Rock, (86), vs. Mrs. Kathleen Fryberger, Little Rock, (82).

Miss Anne Webster, Leavenworth, Kan., (84), vs. Mrs. Frank Meyers, Fort Worth, (94).

Mrs. C. J. Gaffney, Little Rock, (87), vs. Mrs. Robert Greenlease, Kansas City, (93).

Miss Hilda Urbanke, Austin, Texas, (88), vs. Mrs. Elford Beck, Tulsa (98).

Mrs. Leon Solomon, Memphis, (85), vs. Miss Virginia Gent, Tulsa, (90).

Mrs. Carl B. Wood, Bartlesville, Okla., (87), vs. Mrs. Margaret Townsend, Kansas City, (93).

Mrs. F. E. Pharr, Texarkana, (81), vs. Mrs. Jack Haman, Tulsa, (96).

Miss Mary E. Ford, Kansas City, (86), vs. Mrs. Scott Hill, Waco, Texas, (91).

Mrs. Walter Beyer, Tulsa, (84), vs. Mrs. C. R. Kohler, Oklahoma City, (94).

GIANTS 9; PHILLIES 7.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Led by Hugh Critz and Big Ben Hogan, each with four hits, the New York Giants punched three Phil pitchers for 19 blows and won today's opener, 9 to 7.

Bill Walker started for the Giants and, though he was the victim of a five-run assault in the fifth and was relieved by a pinch-hitter in the seventh, received credit for his first victory of the year. George Davis, Phil centerfielder, tripped and fell heavily while going for a fly ball in the first inning and had to leave the game.

BRAVES 5; ROBINS 4.

BOSTON, May 23.—Rabbit Maranville came to bat with two out in the last of the tenth inning today and hit a scorching single that defeated Brooklyn, 5 to 4, in the series opener and planted the Braves back at the top of the National league standing.

Robert (Red) Worthington was perched on third base when the Rabbit, veteran of a score of years of big league baseball, stepped to the plate. Worthington had doubled with one away and reached third on Art Shires' outfield fly. He scored easily on Maranville's blow, the fourth of the day for the Rabbit.

Up to the winning punch, it had been a see-saw battle all the way. Brooklyn led until the sixth, when Freddie Leach's pinch hit scored a pair and put the Braves ahead. The Dodgers then came back to tie the count with a run in the seventh on blows by Kelly and Frederick, and there matters rested until the tenth.

Waite Hoyt started for Brooklyn, but was relieved in the seventh by Thurston, who was charged with the loss.

YOUNG NEGRO SINGERS TO BE ON AIR TONIGHT

Tonight at 6:35 the double quartette from the Booker T. Washington High school, eight of the finest young negro voices in Atlanta, will give a short program over WGST. The popular negro spirituals have never been sung better than by these Atlanta negro boys and girls and it is a good tip to tune in on WGST at that hour. Incidently, the Washington High Glee Club, with a hundred voices, is to appear in concert at the auditorium Thursday night. The double quartette program tonight is somewhat in the way of a sample.

FULTON HIGH ALUMNI TO GATHER TONIGHT

Alumni of Fulton High school will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium, 345 Washington street, according to Eldon R. Lindsey, an alumnus of Fulton High. Mr. Lindsey stated that the meeting has been called for the purpose of reorganizing the alumni association, adding that there are approximately 1,000 members living in and around Atlanta.

Mr. Lindsey has arranged the meeting with prominent members of the faculty as well as the alumni, among whom are Boyd Taylor, an alumnus and former member of the faculty, Jimmy Arthur, Joe Wright, Clinton Wells, "Shorty" Roberts and J. S. Heard. Dr. G. W. Gasque and other members of the teaching staff will attend the meeting to assist in plans for the reorganization.

HISTORIAN TO TALK ON NBC NET TONIGHT

Charles A. Beard, noted historian, will deliver his second speech tonight in the "You and Your Government" series broadcast by NBC under auspices of the National Advisory Council on Education in conjunction with the American Political Science Association. His subject will be "Issues of Domestic Policy."

Next week Arthur N. Holcombe, of Harvard University, will be the speaker. The programs are broadcast locally by WSB, of Atlanta, and other southern stations at 6 o'clock.

Radio Telephone Talk Of 138 Miles To Be Tried

Atlanta and Chattanooga amateur radio experts on June 18 will make an attempt to carry on a two-way wireless telephone conversation between Stone Mountain and Signal Mountain, on a five-meter wave length using a frequency of from 56,000,000 to 60,000,000 cycles, it was learned here Monday. If the experiment is successful it will be the first time a radiophone conversation on that frequency has been achieved for such a distance—138 miles. The present record is 41 miles.

The extremely high band of frequency to be used, it was explained, avoids the interference of static and fading and makes conversation perfect. William Van Dyke, pioneer Chattanooga amateur experimenter, and Henry L. Reid, of the Atlanta Radio Club, will be in charge of arrangements at their respective points.

The information secured was compiled by Dr. Margaret Elliott, of the University of Michigan, with the help of Dr. Susan Kingsbury, of Bryn Mawr; and this was the first survey of the kind ever undertaken in this country, according to Mrs. Robertson, who told of the many unusual occupations among the ten million women wage-earners in the United States.

"Of the 572 known occupations, women are engaged in all but 37. They are serving as game wardens, in forestry service, in deep sea diving and even as steeplejacks and blacksmith shop operators; as operators of business; as consulting engineers and as railroad presidents. A woman is president of the Brooklyn gas company; another as owner and manager of a professional baseball team. They are serving with distinction on the bench and in public office in many other capacities. They are major stockholders in large corporations and are doing 85 per cent of the buying."

Mrs. Robertson said that women were unusually fine in organization and detail effort, but somewhat lacking in executive ability, due to so long being sheltered and freed from responsibility. She said that good programs, plus energy and hard work, mean success to an organization. She urged her hearers to "learn how to co-operate, and to disagree agreeably."

JUNIOR LEAGUE JOTTINGS

BY MRS. HENRY W. GRADY JR.

Announcement is made today of the plans for the approaching Junior League luncheon to take place Tuesday, June 7, at Brookhaven Country Club at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. John Ottley Jr. is chairman of the luncheon, and requests that anyone expecting to be present communicate with her immediately at Walnut 9962. A further request for flowers is also made, Mrs. Ottley having a large flower-collecting committee, consisting of Misses Virginia Courts, Rachel Neely, Mesdames Preston Arkwright Jr., William Ogden, Ralph Paris and Albert Howell Jr.

Mrs. J. K. Ottley Jr.

Coming as the luncheon does as the climax of the year's activities, it offers an opportunity for the members to have a final meeting, when duties are forgotten for a time and a spirit of frivolity is in the air. This year an entire day is to be set aside when Junior League friends will "get together" as never before. Starting at 9 o'clock the more seasoned golf players among the members are invited to enter an 18-hole flight of a medal play golf tournament and at 10:30 o'clock a nine-hole flight for beginners is slated. There will be no greens fee but a small individual assessment to provide for prizes will be made. Handicaps will apply in both flights, and to enter either tournament Mrs. John Knox at Cherokee 9851 should be notified.

However, there are many in the League who are not at all athletic, and for these members a bridge tournament, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, has been arranged, also starting promptly at 10:30. Participants will enter this contest with a partner previously selected, playing in the usual north and south, east and west divisions, and in as many sections as the number of entrants makes necessary. No admittance fee is required, as the prizes will not be elaborate, but to secure a reservation for the fun Mrs. Wagar should be called at Hemlock 1590.

A very simple program has been planned to follow the luncheon, which is given in honor of the incoming and outgoing officers. Final reports will be heard from the various committee chairmen; the two delegates, returning from the conference of the Association of Junior Leagues of America in Los Angeles, will describe their visit to the Santa Fe, Los Angeles and Pasadena leagues; the retiring president, Mrs. R. L. Foreman Jr., in closing her farewell address, will call upon the new president, Mrs. Allison Thornwell, who in turn will introduce her completed board of directors for 1932-33.

This is a day that should not be missed by any member, for with such a wide assortment of entertainment from which to choose, there should be enough to interest every Junior Leaguer, whether as spectator or participant.

Today Mrs. Allison Thornwell and Mrs. Green Warren, delegates from the Atlanta Junior League, arrive in Los Angeles to attend the conference of the Association of Junior Leagues of America. Four days of delightful social activities are ahead of them in this city, but there will also be many important meetings and discussions of future League policies to be attended. Two national officers must be elected, Mrs. John Pratt, of New Orleans, La., having been nominated for president, and Mrs. Horatio Armstrong, of Hartford, Conn., for re-election as treasurer.

Mrs. Thornwell and Mrs. Warren will represent the thought of the Atlanta League when decisions are reached concerning:

1. Volunteer service vs. point and hour system.
2. Volunteer placements and affiliations with other civic welfare groups.
3. The present topical numbers of the Junior League Magazine and correct make-up of local news sheets or column.
4. Children's theaters, including Marionettes.
5. Commercial attachments and the Junior League as the public sees it (publicity).
6. A change in the name of the arts and interests bureau. (Civic and creative arts has been suggested.)
7. The necessity of further education among our members in welfare work.
8. New ideas about money-raising plans, membership committee problems and provisional training courses.
9. Changes in the association by-law effecting entrance requirements for new legaues.

We are proud we are sending two members who will represent our League so well and are sure they will do their part to intelligently promote the aims and ideals that unite all the leagues in the Association of Junior Leagues of America.

On Saturday, May 28, at 2 o'clock the Henrietta Egleston Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will present its annual pet parade in the gardens of the hospital. Mrs. Stacy Hill is in charge of the parade and will award a number of attractive prizes among the variety of pets expected. Mrs. Hill has also arranged an assortment of special features to entertain the children attending with their pets, including a fortune-telling booth, a story-telling booth, a "crazy house," and a rainbow trail which ends with a treasure chest and penny grab-bag. Tickets are 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children and the proceeds will go to the auxiliary fund which will be used to paint the wards and do some very necessary repairing in the hospital.

The Junior League, always glad to assist in a personal way the projects of this hospital, will aid the auxiliary with the pet parade just as we did recently with the garden tours, also sponsored by this organization. Mrs. William Warren, Junior League pet parade chairman, together with Mesdames Harold Ebersole, Beverly Dubose, Jack Sharp and Lauren Goldsmith, will handle the concessions for the afternoon, dispensing balloons, ice cream, popcorn, peanuts, cakes and candies. Anyone willing to make a donation of homemade candies is asked to telephone Mrs. Warren, Hemlock 0120, who will arrange to collect any amount.

Mrs. Warren, who is also chairman of all Junior League committees working regularly in the hospital, will soon make her annual report and at that time will announce that the $6,000 pledged each year to the support of our Junior League ward has been paid promptly during her term, that members have worked in the office each morning and two or three times a week in the afternoon; that every day a Junior Leaguer takes the dietitian to market, and that the sewing committee has grown so large that a move has become necessary from the present sewing room to the new doctors' library, a memorial gift from a Junior League member to the hospital. The sewing committee has rolled enough bandages to last throughout the entire summer, but the other committees will continue during the hot weather.

Besides carrying on the usual duties, the Junior League at Christmas filled stockings for all the children in the hospital, decorated the Junior League ward and delivered Christmas baskets to needy families of children who had at some time been treated in the hospital. At Easter Mrs. Hugh Inman took charge of the Junior League ward and in a most original way furnished rabbits, eggs and other reminders of the season to each small patient.

The Junior League has had a full and busy year at the Henrietta Egleston Memorial hospital and Mrs. Warren is to be congratulated on the efficient way in which she has handled her committees during this period of chairmanship.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Two women walked down a city street during Christmas week. After they had gone several blocks without conversation one of them said to the other: "How many unhappy faces you see among the shoppers!" "That's funny," replied the other, "I had the opposite impression and was about to say that most of them looked to me like they had Christmas in their bones and I was thinking that Christmas magic had done the work." "You are happy yourself," commented the first speaker. "We always see what we are looking for. You are looking for happiness and I am looking for misery. The drunk man always thinks the other man is drunk." There was deep wisdom in these final remarks.

Here is a letter (printed in full) from a disillusioned young woman who, because of an unhappy situation in her own home, imagines that all homes are unhappy, a woman whose father mistreated her mother and one who therefore imagines that all husbands mistreat their wives. She expects to find on all sides faithless husbands and adoring sacrificial wives. Of course she finds them. Out of her whole acquaintance she picks three glaring examples of marital infelicity and from those three cases she deducts the principle that all marriages are infelicitous. She superimposes her own misanthropic and unhappy views of marriage on every marriage she meets. She refuses to acknowledge that where one husband is faithless a hundred are faithful. She shuts her eyes to all the evidence that character and high-mindedness and self-control and self-restraint are not confined to the female of the species. She has allowed her narrow and constricted views of life to make of her a man hater, and this trait, like all unreasonable and ungoverned hatreds, punishes her without having the least effect on the persons at whom it is aimed.

The letter runs:

"First let me say that I am twenty-seven years old and single and expect to stay that way. I could have been married but I have little respect for men in general and I don't believe there is hardly a decent man that will be really true to a wife. I know what I am talking about. I have in mind two charming women, with lovely characters. One is forty-five with two young daughters that will soon graduate from high school. Her husband doesn't care whether he works or not, so she works to support him and his family, while he runs around with other women. No punishment is too great for him.

"My own mother is one of the finest women in the world. I can't begin to tell you of her hardships and struggles. She is sticking by a man who drank and treated her shamefully. He has quit drinking after ruining the best years of her life. If it hadn't been for her he would have starved. There should be a crown in heaven awaiting most of these women that have paid such a price for being women. I wish I could see one man that loved his wife and made a happy home for her, a home where there was contentment and where the wife was the only woman for her husband. What are your ideas on the subject?"

Oh, no, young lady, you are all wrong. You must have had some personal experience that has embittered you, some catastrophic heart wrench at the hands of some man, other than your father. The heart is temporarily out of commission and when that is the case with a woman her reasoning powers are paralyzed, her brain cannot function clearly. It would be idle to argue with you when you are in such a frame of mind. It would be useless to tell you what is the truth, namely, that the world is full of good and faithful husbands whose wives are all in all to them; men that hold themselves as responsible for the sanctity of their homes as they hold their wives, men that are clean in thought and exemplary in conduct, men whose affection for their wives guarantees the peace and contentment that you speak of as a chimerical dream, men that assume full financial support of their families, wives and children, men that would cut off their right and left arms rather than betray the faith that is reposed in them. But it is useless to tell you all of this.

The one thing that can and will restore your faith in men, the one thing that will shame you out of this attitude is to have one of these good men fall in love with you, and you with him, and in that blessed experience to learn the truth that decency and loyalty and fidelity and peace and contentment all come to flower in the marriage of a good woman to a good man.

Culbertson on Contract

Refusing a Cheap Trick

BY ELY CULBERTSON.
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

It is not always wise to win a trick as cheaply as possible. Hands occur at the Bridge table daily, illustrative of this principle, which occurs whenever one or the other has a long suit which must be established and brought in to make the contract, but lacks entries to bring in the established long cards if the defense is adequate.

The hand below, played in a recent Duplicate game in Chicago, is an example of this principle. Nine tables participated in the play of the hand, and of these only three made their contract of three notrump, through a propensity to take a trick as cheaply as possible.

South—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in the table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1NT(1)	Pass	2♣	Pass
3NT(2)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Some players would prefer to open this hand with a shaded heart bid, but this would not change the eventual contract.

2—A rather strong Rebid, but South fears that North might permit the bidding to die if the response were only two notrumps.

At all tables West opened his fourth best spade, as his hand did not offer a good alternative lead. At the tables where the contract of three notrump was played from the Dummy, East played the three, and South won with the Ace. At this early point in the play, the success or failure of the hand was determined. At the tables where the contract was defeated, South won the first trick with the nine of spades, believing firmly in the principle that it is wise to buy as cheaply as possible. With the correct play of the Ace of spades, the contract of three notrump could not be defeated.

The second process in the development of the hand was the establishment of the club suit. East, noting that Dummy contained no possible entry in hearts, did not take his Ace until the third round of clubs. To the fifth trick, East, lacking a better lead, returned his partner's suit. West won with the King, and established two spades by returning the suit. The Queen and five of clubs were then played, followed by the King of hearts from Dummy, which was won by East with the Ace, and a diamond returned. The Declarer's troubles were over. On the clubs he discarded his losing diamonds, and took all of the remaining tricks.

Where the first trick was won with the nine of spades, an entirely different story was told. South's nine held the first trick, and he led the King of clubs, following with the Ten. East refused to take either of these with the Ace. South, now abandoning the hope of bringing in the club suit, decided to try to make 9 tricks by winning three hearts, two clubs, two spades and two diamonds. He, therefore, led a small heart, which East won with the Ace, cashed the Ace of clubs, and returned his last spade. South played the Knave, and West won with the King and returned the suit, as he knew the Declarer's Ace must fall.

Thus played, the Declarer at the end was compelled to concede 3 tricks to his opponents and thereby lose his contract.

TODAY'S POINTER.

It is not always wise to win a trick as cheaply as possible. The Declarer should always take stock of his combined resources and decide whether or not such play is wise, in view of the general necessity of establishing entries in one hand or the other.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

North—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

COSTS LESS than handkerchief laundering

KLEENEX disposable tissues to use and destroy

TIRED of paying for big handkerchief launderings? Then it's time to try Kleenex! You can use many individual Kleenex Tissues for the cost of having one handkerchief laundered!

And there's no bother. No storing soiled handkerchiefs away in laundry bags—to scatter their germs through other clothing.

Once you start using Kleenex, the old way will seem crude and unsanitary. It's so much cleaner to use each time a fresh, soft tissue—and then destroy it completely.

Start the whole family using Kleenex. Supply packages for school and office.

Experiment a little with Kleenex—see how many ways it can serve you! These soft tissues are wonderful for babies. Try Kleenex for wiping spectacles, for cleaning silver, for dusting, for cleaning shoes, for drying razor blades, to save towels. At all drug, dry goods and department stores, in big generous packages.

RESEARCH REVEALS ALL-BRAN RICH IN HEALTH-ELEMENTS

Helps Correct Constipation with "Bulk" and Vitamin B; Also Has Iron

Recent scientific research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains two things needed to overcome temporary and recurring constipation. It has "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

These two important food-elements promote regular habits, and help do away with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy, so often the result of constipation.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild in action—much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's daily—enough for most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Besides, ALL-BRAN brings your body twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Equally tasty as a cereal with milk or cream, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Heavens! —another Run!"

"No wonder, Jane —the way you wash them!"

Don't wash out ELASTICITY* if you want stockings to wear and fit

It's surprising that stockings wear at all—the way some girls wash them!

For careless washing can destroy the very secret of stocking life—ELASTICITY. That's the "live" quality that makes stockings give, instead of break, under strain—stretch and spring back into shape.

Lux is made to preserve this precious elasticity. That's why stockings washed the Lux way keep their flattering fit—give so much longer WEAR.

STOCKING S-T-R-A-I-N comes when you climb stairs, bend, stretch, put on your garters! If elasticity has been destroyed, silk threads break, starting ruinous runs.

*The Lux Way to preserve ELASTICITY

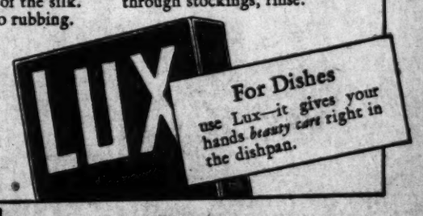

Wash after EACH wearing. Perspiration left in stockings or lingerie will actually rot the silk.

Don't rub with cake soap. It destroys the elasticity of the silk. With Lux there is no rubbing.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali which weakens threads, fades colors. Lux has no harmful alkali—if it's safe in water it's safe in Lux.

Wash this 2-minute way:

1. One teaspoon of Lux diamonds for each pair. 2. Add lukewarm water to Lux, squeeze through stockings, rinse.

For Dishes use Lux—it gives your hands beauty care right in the dishpan.

LUX for stockings 2 minutes a day keeps them like new

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Stocks drifted deeper into the doldrums today through a session that was, with one exception, the dullest in eight years.

Extreme fluctuations of a point or more were rare among leading common equities. Net changes were generally insignificant.

Until the last hour the market bade fair to set a volume smaller even than the 533,010-share day on last September 1, which was the lightest since October 7, 1924, when 437,000 shares changed hands. Activity quickened enough to make a turnover of 557,280 shares.

A number of preferred stocks broke out of line with losses of about 2 to 5 points, but none was active. Southern was in this group.

A few common shares at one time sold a point net higher, following the leadership of a strong wheat market. Also, Wall Street clearly hoped that budget action would be speeded. However, it was difficult to awaken buying interest beyond routine covering operations.

Such stocks as United States Steel, American Can, American Telephone, General Electric and Westinghouse finished less than half a point from Saturday's final quotations. Industrial Rayon was down 3.

United States government securities mended rather well and a fair representation of highest grade domestic corporation loans firmed.

Railroad earnings for April are beginning to appear. In the aggregate they are making a more unfavorable comparison with a year ago than did the March figures. Operating economies in some instances have probably been carried about as far as possible.

The president of St. Louis Southwestern warned that receivership was in prospect unless further deposits of consolidated mortgage bonds were made under the refunding plan.

An increase in gold earmarkings suggested further exports would go forward on the next fast steamers. Foreign balances are probably being increased, it is believed, on European sales of American securities.

Foreign Markets

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON—Trading dull and generally easy. Gilt-edged securities and foreign issues led the decline. Closing uncertain.

PARIS—Trading opened sluggishly. Declines in many sections became irregular and some groups improved slightly. Closing heavy.

BERLIN—Prices heavy due to political uncertainties in view of the opening of the Prussian diets tomorrow.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 5 points up at 5.65. Receipts, none; shipments, none; stocks, 167,522.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Reports of a continued firm spot situation in the south, and firmness in the grain market, seemed largely responsible for rallies from a slight opening decline in cotton today.

July closed at 5.82, with the general market closing steady at net gains of 7 to 8 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 1 point, generally unchanged to 3 points lower, in response to the relatively easy showing of Liverpool.

Prices worked upward during the day while offerings remained light. May sold up from 5.70 to 5.79 and December from 6.11 to 6.20 in the late trading and the close was within a point or two of the best on covering and Wall Street buying.

There was some covering by May shorts in preparation for the end of business in that position at noon tomorrow. May was relatively steady.

Private advices from Texas said plants in the central part of the state were small with some replanting necessary and scattering crop complaints seemed to be attracting a little more attention.

Liverpool cables reported continental liquidation with a poor offtake. Exports today, 9,525, making 7,840,007 so far this season. Port receipts, 8,350. United States port stocks, 3,877,372.

NEW ORLEANS SPOTS GAIN 7 TO 11 POINTS

NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—(AP)—After ruling quiet most of the day the cotton market developed a spurt of activity near the end and rallied 9 to 11 points on active short covering on higher stocks and grain and on prospects for unsettled weather in the belt. The close was steady and at the top, the general market showing net gains for the day of 7 to 11 points.

The market opened quiet. Liverpool cables came in 2 to 3 penny points lower than due and private cables stated that there was continental liquidation and hedging, but the offtake was poor. Manchester cabled that the market there was inactive with buyers cautious.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 2 penny points up.

Port receipts 8,175; for week 13,802; for season 9,621,218; last season 8,808,649. Exports 9,525; for week 22,797; for season 7,687,614; last season $6,097,467.

Port stocks 3,916,680; last year 3,353,222. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 88,367; last year 70,958. Spot sales at southern markets 5,103; last year 4,403.

Brokers' Views

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Stocks continue to mark time awaiting a rift in the bank of neutral and colorless news which prevailed over the week-end. Individual weakness is still cropping out in some of the utility and industrial issues and some rather persistent selling has appeared in tobacco stocks, but the list as a whole maintains a firm tone and shows more activity on bulges than on reactions.

If business reports now coming to hand show no improvement at least they indicate definite interruption of the former distinctly downward trend. Steel operations remain virtually unchanged and automobile production still trends moderately upward. The situation continues to favor purchases of stocks on recessions for trading turns.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Trading is so light in volume that the market has come almost to a standstill and there is very little change in prices. Some liquidation in National Biscuit has taken the price off a point or two, but it merely represents a very limited demand which exists in most stocks. There is no news of importance. Before the end of the so-called "Hoover moratorium" this summer, some progress must be worked out or we will have international defaults on a large scale with all their disagreeable repercussions. The best thing that can be said of today's market is that there was no liquidation in evidence and that prices were steady.

DOBBS & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Today's session was listless with a slight quickening of tempo towards the close. Most attention for the day was directed to wheat, due to confirming reports of crop damage from weather and pests over virtually the whole belt.

We hope for guidance from the meeting of the Young committee who, at this time, are expected to lay definite plans of procedure.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Aside from being one of the dullest days of the year the market also gave occasion for disappointment in its failure to respond to the sharp advance in wheat prices. Trading is still dominated by the Washington situation. This will reach its crisis in the next two or three weeks and after this we will be able to see ahead more clearly, but meanwhile there is little inducement to assume a trading position in stocks.

Loose-Wiles, whose dividend comes up for action next week, was weak spot. The company just about covered the regular rate in the first quarter, but not the extra. We doubt that at present the regular dividend of 65 cents is being earned. Adverse action on the extra at least is looked for.

Grain Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

CHICAGO, May 23.—For the first time since winter wheat crop damage became a certainty it received recognition in a speculative way and a wave of buying orders carried prices sharply higher at the opening and still further later in the session with most of the advance held at the close. All other news factors were decidedly against the price as Liverpool made no response to our strength of Saturday or this morning. There were generous rains over large sections of western Canada and although more are needed, crop reports are generally favorable. There is, however, a serious infestation of worms and grasshoppers, these pests being reported in great volume by the Saskatchewan department of entomology, the Canadian National Railways, and a leading Winnipeg elevator house who sees possibilities of a grasshopper plague over the entire western part of Canada and United States. We feel wheat is still very much under-priced and offers an excellent investment opportunity.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The cotton market eased to net losses of 1@3 points on active months in early trading today in response to scattered selling prompted by disappointing showing of Liverpool, but during remainder of the session the trend was upward. Final prices were at the best of the session and 7@8 points net higher. While no aggressive demand was in evidence the market was much easier to sell than to buy, thus indicating almost complete absence of selling power. We look for higher prices and recommend purchases here or on any moderate setback.

DOBBS & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The volume was small but the market firm with trade price fixing the chief source of support. The central and eastern belts are getting too much rain, and we are getting some boll weevil complaints.

It is believed that the prodding of congress will bring forth action on balancing the budget, and some constructive tax legislation this week.

The strong wheat market and steady security prices are helping the cotton market.

BEER & CO.

NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—The cotton trade is looking more and more to the weather conditions, and when there is nothing important there, they are taking their cues from the stock market and are beginning to watch the grain market closely as it looks as though the wheat situation is working toward a very strong statistical position. The action of the cotton market recently is encouraging and we continue to favor buying cotton, especially on recessions.

HUBBARD BROS.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Although Liverpool was lower than due this morning, our market failed to meet the decline, remaining quiet and very steady, and advancing some 10 points over Saturday's close. News of the day was rather conflicting in as much as reports of further curtailment, and in some cases actual shutting down of mills in the south was received, but on the other hand it was felt that the showery weather was striking the belt at just a time when fair, warm weather following the rains of last week was essential. The market acts thoroughly sold out and some further improvement could easily take place on any further bad weather.

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP)—Wheat rose buoyantly today to about 6 cents a bushel over prices current last week.

The wheat market went soaring as a result of broader speculative demand, together with reported startling losses of domestic winter wheat.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1 3-8 to 1 3-4 above Saturday's finish; corn 3-8 to 5-8 up, oats 1-2 to 7-8 advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

Corn as well as wheat rose to the best level in weeks, but rural holders of corn took advantage of the bulge and were free sellers of corn to arrive. Need of rain west and southwest gave independent strength to the oats market.

Provisions averaged higher with grain, notwithstanding that hog values dropped to a new low for more than 30 years.

COTTON BELT HEAD FIGHTS RECEIVERSHIP

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Declaring that receivership for the St. Louis Southwestern railway (Cotton Belt system) will follow a failure of the company's refunding plan, Daniel Upthegrove, president of the road, in a telegram to the holders of the consolidated 4 per cent bonds, who have not yet assented to the plan, urged them to deposit their bonds promptly to save the company's plan.

"Responsibility for failure of the refunding plan, which appears imminent," said Mr. Upthegrove in his telegram, "must be accepted by holders of St. Louis Southwestern consolidated bonds who refuse to deposit them. Unless you and they respond to this last warning and deposit bonds by May 25 the plan will fail and receivership follow."

LOAN TO COTTON BELT TENTATIVELY APPROVED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 23.—(AP)—Tht St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) Railway Company, threatened with receivership, has obtained tentative approval of an $18,000,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to apply on partial payment of $20,727,750 mortgage bonds due June 1 and other obligations, provided the bondholders accept new extended bonds for one-half the principal.

Thus far 80 per cent of the bondholders have deposited their bonds for the exchange, but under the conditions imposed by the interstate commerce commission the loan will not be finally approved unless 90 per cent accept the plan and deposit their bonds.

x—New 1932 low.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—United States government bonds showed new signs of life in fairly broad buying today, but most leading corporate issues failed to join the upswing.

Trading volume was slightly lower, $10,924,000 face amount of bonds changing hands against $14,520,000 on Friday, the last previous full day of trading.

Gains of 8-32 to 10-32 point were made by the first and fourth Liberty 4 1-4s. Treasury issues moved up as much as 28-32 of a point.

Selling of railroad bonds tended to offset the beneficial influences growing out of rumors that leading banks were again considering concerted purchases of corporate bonds. Weakness of the carrier liens was ascribed to declining car loading reports.

Baltimore & Ohio first 5s reacted 8 points to a new low at 65. Virginian Railway 5s dropped 5 points to 75.

American Telephone & Telegraph bonds attracted bargain hunting which sent the entire telephone list higher. The company's debenture 5 1-2s rallied 6 1-2 points to 102 1-2.

German government 7s rallied sharply to 46 for a gain of 3-4 point.

ACCUSED RECTOR THREATENS TO 'LICK' STATE PROSECUTOR

LONDON, May 23.—(UP)—The Rev. Harold F. Davidson, aged rector of Stiffkey, who is being tried on charges of immorality, admitted today he might be acquainted with 1,000 girls, but denied ever making an improper proposal to one of them.

The rector's testimony in his own defense again stirred spectators to applause and the outburst which followed his clash with the prosecutor, Roland Oliver, led the police to clear part of the gallery.

Oliver had suggested that a "Mister G." was a swindler and that to some extent Dr. Davidson had acted with him.

"That is untrue," the rector said. "If you dare say that out of court I will deal with you."

"Thank you," Oliver replied cooly.

The rector then explained that Mister G. became bankrupt in 1922 and that publicity at present "might completely wreck his life's reconstructive work."

He turned angrily on Oliver.

"Am I being charged with sexual immorality or financial immorality?" he asked. The spectators howled their approval.

Highlights of Wall Street

BY CHARLES W. STORM, Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, May 23.—With advancing wheat prices, the stock market today developed a slightly better tone.

Aside from the better feeling over President Hoover's stand against a federal bond issue, and the bipartisan appeal to congress to speed action on the budget, the market was little influenced by the news from Washington.

From the narrow movement of stocks it was plain that incentive was lacking from other sources of news, the industrial centers. Business, it would appear, is waiting for the uncertainty surrounding legislative matters to pass.

The action of both stocks and bonds, however, reflected an absence of pressure, which logically would be a prerequisite to more stable markets.

United States government issues had a fair early rally, but corporate liens were still inclined to irregular ease.

GENERAL ELECTRIC.

Dividend action by General Electric will be decided Friday when directors meet. In ordinarily well-informed quarters there is little doubt that the present $1 annual rate will be maintained, and the usual quarterly payment of 25 cents a share is expected at that time.

WHEAT.

The extremely low estimate made by the government on winter wheat output coming simultaneously with farm board assurances that wheat prices will go up 10 cents a bushel, appear to lend color to the report that a group is working on the bull side of that commodity.

J. I. Case and International Harvester continue to show a firm tone on the sustained buoyancy in wheat.

It will take more than a rise of a few cents a bushel to increase purchase of farm implements this year, but the implement manufacturers hold so much farm paper that any rise in the wheat market will increase their chances and advance the date of collection.

International Harvester operates a plan for acceptance of wheat and corn as payment for machinery, and therefore profits from a market rise on that account.

INDUSTRIAL RAYON.

A speculative favorite of some months back, Industrial Rayon dropped abruptly today to new low levels for the year.

Unusually heavy offerings encountered a rather sparse amount of demand under Saturday's closing levels and the stock yielded almost 4 points before the decline was checked.

Though second quarter profits are expected to show an increase over those in the like 1931 period, a sharp decline from the two preceding quarters probably will be registered.

CURB LIST HEAVY IN ACTIVE SESSION

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Selling of the utility shares imparted a somewhat heavy tone to the curb market again today, although some of the oil and industrials registered isolated gains.

Trading quickened somewhat. The day's turnover approximated 150,000 shares, or some 50,000 more than that of the preceding full day.

Standard Oil of Indiana, the most active issue in the list, having recently superceded Electric Bond & Share, rose 3-8 to 18 7-8. Other members of the petroleum group were steady to firm.

Electric Bond & Share dropped 1 3-8 points to 8 3-8, a new low for the present shares.

In tl industrials Deere rallied a fraction, in sympathy with the fresh upturn in wheat.

ATLANTA RECEPTION PLEASES ROOSEVELT

BY WALTER T. BROWN

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., May 23.—(AP)—Pleased with the way his Atlanta speech yesterday, on the economic condition, was received, as indicated in telegrams of approval that reached him from a dozen states, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today awaited, with some eagerness, editorial reaction.

Governor Roosevelt and party start north Wednesday, boarding the Crescent Limited of the Southern railway at Newnan, 40 miles from here. The governor will go directly to New York city, where he will stay until Saturday. Saturday and Sunday he will spend at his Hyde Park (N. Y.) home, and on Decoration Day he speaks at the Washington bicentennial observance at Kingston, N. Y.

It became known today that Governor Roosevelt expected to elaborate on the Atlanta speech and lay down his program for easing the depression and meeting other problems affecting the national government in a supplemental address. His advisers have suggested such a program should be outlined during the week preceding the opening of the democratic convention at Chicago June 27. He is the leading candidate for the presidential nomination.

Before he leaves here the New York executive expects to clean up a mass of accumulated correspondence. Today he had no engagements nor are there any names on the visitors' book tomorrow.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS ON AIR TOUR OF STATE

Republican leaders of Georgia set out from Atlanta Monday on a two-day aerial tour of the state to select congressional districts in which the party will offer candidates for the November election, and to decide finally whether to offer aspirants for governor and senator.

The party is composed of M. O. Dunning, collector of port at Savannah, in whose plane the trip is being made; Chairman Josiah T. Rose, of the state committee; Dirrelle Chaney, administrative assistant in the postoffice department, and Wilson Williams, state secretary.

They planned to stop in Macon, Vidalia, and Albany Monday, and confer with party leaders from the first, second, sixth and third congressional districts. Their itinerary for today includes stops in Waycross, Warm Springs, Rome, Gainesville, and Athens, where information on conditions in the eighth, fourth, seventh, ninth, and tenth districts will be gathered. The fifth already has been canvassed.

State party headquarters announced definite decision had been reached to nominate candidates for congress in at least some of the districts. It was added that republicans all over the state were urging that a contest be made in the gubernatorial and senatorial races.

After the tour the flying party and other republican leaders will confer in Atlanta to make final decision on these and other questions.

TARZAN AND THE ANT MEN No. 104

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In the royal apartments Janzara and Talaskar fought furiously. They rolled upon the very spot that had let Tarzan and Komodoflorensal into the pit. Janzara screamed with terror. "The Cats!" she cried, and then the two girls disappeared.

Both wildcats charged. The two men were almost at the gate; another instant and they could spring through. The man in the next chamber swung open the gate. At the same instant two figures shot from the mouth of the shaft, directly in the path of the charging carnivores.

Tarzan and Komodoflorensal both sprang quickly toward the two girls. The cats, startled by their sudden appearance, leaped again to the far end of the chamber. Janzara had dropped her dagger, and now Talaskar seized the weapon and leaped to her feet.

Janzara.. half. bewildered,. looked about, terror disfiguring her marvelous beauty, and as she did so the man in the adjoining room saw her. "Janzara!" he cried. "My princess, I come!" and seizing a wooden bench, he swung wide the gate and ran to their aid.

Sudden Love

By ELIZABETH SANXAY HOLDING

SYNOPSIS.

Esmee Sully spends her forlorn young life between the office, where she is an inefficient typist, and a dismal home. Mrs. Sully loves her three children blindly, but is unable to help them spiritually or physically. Cynthia, the oldest, has had a tragic marriage. Lew, a year older than Esmee, has had little from life. Esmee can barely remember the days before her father's death when they had had a cheerful home. Jimmy Consadine forces Lew to introduce him to Esmee. Lew warns Esmee she'll make trouble unless she keeps away from Jimmy. She sees a lot of Jimmy, however, but finds him an unmanageable lover. Lew gets into a jam and asks Esmee to get him $50. Esmee intends to ask Helen Morgill, to whose home she is invited to a cocktail party, for the money. At the party she meets Arthur Twining and tells him her troubles. He asks her to go to his place to get the money. Leaving the party they meet Arthur's roommate, Michael Marriott, and it's a case of love at first sight. He goes with Twining and Esmee. Leaving the apartment Esmee meets Jimmy, who finds the money which Twining has loaned her, and threatens to make trouble. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT VIII.

Lew was always the first to leave in the morning; in pallid summer dawn, in the blackness of winter mornings. Mrs. Sully got up, put on her wrapper, and cooked his breakfast. It was always an ill-cooked breakfast, but there was plenty of strong coffee, and she would sit across the kitchen table from him, smiling her wonderful warm smile and watching her son and imagining for him a brilliant future—a success which he had no possible chance of attaining.

She got up as usual this morning. When Lew came into the kitchen the coffee had just boiled over on the stove. The door bell rang.

"If it's that man from the gas company," said Mrs. Sully, "I'll fry you an egg, darling, before I open the door. Because he'll probably turn off the gas."

"Never mind an egg," said Lew, and, rising, went to the door himself. Mrs. Sully heard him speak to some one and then go out of the flat, closing the door behind him.

"Perhaps he can manage the man," she thought. "If he can just be put off until Saturday—"

It seemed a long time before Lew came back, and she thought he looked a little queer. He swallowed another cup of coffee, standing, then said:

"I've got to see Esmee. Tell her to come here, will you?"

"Anything I can do, dear?"

"No," he said, and suddenly kissed her on the temple, where her rich, dark hair was turning gray.

She went into the cubicle where her daughters lay, side by side. She waked Esmee cautiously.

"Lew wants to speak to you before he goes, pet."

Esmee came into the kitchen, dazed with sleep.

"Come into my room," said Lew, and closed the door.

She looked at his face and she thought that at last the nameless terror she had so long dreaded had come.

"Lew—?"

"I've been framed," he said. "The foreman told me that if I'd make good today it'd be all right. But Harrigan was just here. He was working the night shift, and he says there's a dick there waiting for me now."

"But if you've got the money—?"

"I tell you I've been framed. Some one's got it in for me, and if I show up I'll take the rap. So I'm going—"

"Going where, Lew?"

"I'd better not tell you," he said. "You'd better not know, in case you're asked. I've got this fifty, thank God, and that'll take care of me."

"Lew . . ." she said. Her teeth were battering in a sort of nervous chill; her hands felt like ice.

"I've got to go—quick," he said.

"They've—really got something on you? Lew, you know I don't care, my darling Lew—only I want to know."

"Yes," he said. "I took some tools and pawned them. I thought I could get them out before they were missed, and I wanted the money. For a damned little —— of a girl."

He used a word she had never heard before, yet she understood it well enough. She could, without knowledge, understand all that had happened to Lew, all his angry misery and rebellion, his craving for something upon which his youth might feed.

He began to speak; his thin face had the austere beauty of a young archangel while he spoke of his own shameful happiness.

"I can't stand it," he said. "I work all day—and I don't get a damn thing out of it. I'm supposed to pay mother a certain sum. That's all right. But every week there's something new—some bill . . . She acts as if they'd fallen out of the sky—"

"I know . . ." said Esmee.

"Yes, you know, all right," he said. "It happens to you, too. All your salary gets taken . . . but you're—good, and I'm not. Cyn's never going to help . . . I never have a cent . . . I didn't ever have decent clothes . . . I could have got them. I had a chance to get in right with a push who knew where the money was . . . And . . ." He paused for a moment, his narrow blue eyes strangely alight. "Well, what's the sense in living like I do? Working like a dog—and coming home to his pigsty . . .? I guess I need excitement. The way I look at it a guy's got a right to take what he can get. That's the—the law of existence or something . . ."

She said nothing. Her glance had fallen upon his hands. They were scarred, rough, the nails engrimed, yet they had something of the fragile beauty of her own.

"I passed up chance after chance to get in on something good," he went on. "I've never done anything—before this about the tools. I did that because I had to have a dinner jacket—to keep up with the crowd."

"Lew," she said, "can't I go with you, Lew darling?"

"No," he said.

"Will you—ever come back, my Lew?"

"I'll come back to you, sometime," he said. "Maybe I'll write . . . You'll look after mother, won't you?"

She took his hand and laid it against her cheek that was wet with tears; she patted it softly.

"Yes, I will, Lew . . . Lew, what shall I tell her?"

"O, any lie," he said. "She'll believe it. Say I've gone out west to look for a better job . . . Now, goodbye, Esmee . . ."

"Goodbye, my darling Lew . . ."

He was gone. The door had closed after him. Lew, in his khaki shirt and trousers, had gone out into the world.

It seemed to her that she would never shed another tear in her life. This desolation was too vast, too overwhelming. She was pale, silent; she could eat no breakfast, but Mrs. Sully had seen her like that before.

"You must eat an extra nice lunch, pet," she said.

"Yes, I will, mother."

She was not late at the office that morning; she dared not be. She thought:

"There isn't any one but me now . . ."

Then suddenly she remembered Marriott, and warmth came back to her.

"He'd understand," she thought.

At noon, when she went out to lunch, she telephoned him.

"They don't answer," said the operator.

She had a cup of coffee and then rang again. This time a voice shouted "Who the hell is it?"

"It's Esmee," she said.

"O, Esmee!" he said. "I'm sorry, dear. I was asleep. Come right along down, will you?"

"I have to work until five."

"Do you have to, dear? Then look here! Hop a taxi at five and come down and we'll have dinner together."

"All right, Michael."

"And Esmee, even while I was asleep, I was thinking of you . . . You mean you'll really come, won't you? You won't go away, Esmee?"

"I'll come Michael."

"You'll be here at half past five?"

Amby Subis and Fortunato Annunciato, Filipinos who recently were convicted on charges involving young high school girls, will again face trial on June 7 in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's division of Fulton superior court, according to a calendar published Monday by the solicitor-general.

Fulton county policemen Monday received new summer uniforms purchased by the county. Police headquarters resembled a tailor shop as officers drew uniforms out of boxes and tried them on.

Captain J. C. Oliver, of Fulton county police, Monday confiscated the smallest still on record. It is a copper box holding about a gallon. It was found in a home in Buckhead. Police were informed that it had not been used in more than a year since the owner died.

Scott W. Simmons, employe of the park department, boasted to neighbors that he had a "sweet mama," Mrs. Maude Simmons alleged Monday in a suit for divorce, child custody and alimony. Mrs. Simmons charged that Simmons devoted his attention to another woman.

Judge Hugh Dorsey, of city court of Atlanta, has requested J. W. Simmons, clerk of court, to prepare a list of all old undisposed of cases, with a view of putting the ancient cases on the docket and disposing of them, it became known Monday. Many cases 10 to 15 years old clutter up the dockets, and it is planned to dispose of them and issue executions for the costs, it was said.

Members of the Fulton county commission are expected to meet today or Wednesday to discuss further economies in an effort to balance the county's budget by June 1, so that the banks will advance money for operations. A 15-day vacation without pay plan has been advanced as one means of effecting a saving.

Arthur W. Powell, attorney for J. D. Lee, Monday sought an order from Judge E. E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, in an effort to have ballistics experts inspect the pistol which, the state contends, killed Bennie Lichtenstein, for whose murder Lee faces a life sentence. Judge Pomeroy authorized the experts to view the gun in the office of the solicitor-general. An extraordinary motion for a new trial for Lee is now under consideration by Judge Pomeroy. Powell alleges that the gun held by the solicitor-general is not the one introduced in evidence at Lee's trial.

Colonel Frederic J. Paxon, who recently returned from a European tour, will narrate some of his experiences on the trip at the luncheon of the Atlanta Foreign Trade and Travel Club, which will be held at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Visitors will be welcome. Reservations may be made by calling the club secretary at Walnut 2357.

City relief center, through James R. Nix, superintendent, is in a position to furnish labor of any character to Atlantans or Georgians wishing to have any kind of work done, it was announced Monday by Councilman J. Frank Beck, chairman of the committee in charge of the activities. By calling Nix, farmers, laborers and craftsmen may be obtained, Beck said.

George Cox, a co-defendant in the Benny Lichtenstein murder case, Monday was convicted in superior court of robbery. The jury set the penalty at from eight to ten years. Sentence will be passed today by Judge Virlyn B. Moore. Cox was charged with holding up J. D. McDaniel, a laundry truck driver, and robbing him of $24. Cox has not been tried in the Lichtenstein case, but his two co-defendants, J. D. Lee and Harry Kosnofsky, face life sentences. Although identified by McDaniel, Cox attempted to establish an alibi in the robbery case.

O'Keefe Junior High school students will give a banquet for the leaders in the school at 6:30 o'clock tonight at Rich's tea room, it was announced. Gilbert Ogg will act as toastmaster

"Bashful Mr. Bobbs," a three-act comedy, will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight by the members of the senior class of the Decatur Senior High school at the Decatur Junior High school auditorium, it was announced. Admission will be 15 cents, and the proceeds will be devoted to the senior year book.

Reviewing the Shows

Graham Jackson, Band, Glee Club, Thursday

Graham Jackson and his Seminole Syncopators, a group of colored jazz artists, have long been extremely popular as perveyors of dance music for Atlanta's better clubs and private homes.

On Thursday night, at the city auditorium at 8:30, Graham and his band will provide part of the entertainment at the program being given by the Booker T. Washington High school. Everyone who has heard or heard of the Syncopators will want to hear them in concert. In addition to the band program, however, Graham is to give a recital on the big organ. Only a limited few Atlantans have heard this gifted young negro play the organ, but all who have, have raved over his ability. Thursday night provides the first opportunity for all Atlanta to hear him.

In addition to these attractions, the program features spirituals and choruses sung by the Washington High Glee Club, a group of more than a hundred of the finest young negro voices in Atlanta.

The concert is a benefit for the extra curricula activities at the high school. The auditorium has been divided into sections for white and for colored. Reserved seats for white will go on sale Wednesday morning at Cable Piano Company while seats for the colored sections may be secured at Yates and Milton Pharmacy, Auburn avenue.

Lil Dagover Scores In Rialto Feature

Lil Dagover, famous star of the European stage and screen, makes her American picture debut in "The Woman From Monte Carlo," which is the feature attraction this week at the Rialto. With Miss Dagover are Walter Huston and Warren Williams, both capable players, as everyone knows.

Perhaps it is the magnificent acting ability of the Dagover, but somehow Walter Huston doesn't seem as good this time as usual. It is altogether probable that the Dagover does overshadow him, for she is nothing short of magnificent. Given a highly emotional role, she neither overacts nor allows any value to escape her. This achievement is rare enough to warrant enthusiasm.

And the end of the picture is logical, another rarity, and by the same token refreshingly different.

The newsreel is more interesting than usual, while there is a clever cartoon comedy and other good short subjects on the bill.

MRS. A. J. MENDENHALL PASSES AT HOME HERE

An illness of five months ended in the death Monday night of Mrs. A. J. Mendenhall at her residence at 1450 West Peachtree street. Mrs. Mendenhall, who was 85 years old, was the widow of the proprietor of the old Mendenhall Company, wholesale plumbers. She had been ill since she suffered a stroke at her home some time ago.

A native of Virginia, Mrs. Mendenhall had resided in Atlanta for the last 30 years. She was a member of the Druid Hills Methodist church and was active in its affairs until failing health caused her to be confined to her home.

Surviving are four daughters, Miss Mary Mendenhall, representative of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, with whom she resided; Mrs. A. V. Clifton, Mrs. Nellie M. Carithers and Mrs. W. E. Johnson, all of Atlanta; one brother, George Burberry, of Georgetown, Ky., and three grandchildren, Miss Dorothy and Miss Marjorie Clifton and Vernon M. Clifton, all of Atlanta.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of H. M. Patterson & Son.

He had appeared to be in good health, according to reports, and the attack was unexpected. Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

BLACKMER READY TO PAY U. S. FINE

Teapot Dome Scandal Figure to Return to America and Face Charges.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(UP)—Henry M. Blackmer, former Denver Millionaire, tired of living abroad as a man without a passport (and hence without a country) has decided to come back to America, pay up his debts to the government, and face whatever charges the federal authorities may hold against him.

Blackmer, one of the founders of the Continental Trading Company which figured boldly in the Teapot Dome scandal, went abroad at the beginning of the inquiry into Albert B. Fall's dealings, and has since then declined to return.

In retaliation, the government confiscated $100,000 worth of his property, levied a fine of $60,000 against him, took away his passport, and—according to his friends—"hounded him all over Europe." The government also imposed penalties of between eight and nine million dollars for failure to make proper income tax returns.

George Gordon Battle, chief counsel for Blackmer, admitted tonight that arrangements were being made to satisfy the government's claims against his client.

"Securities covering the amount of Mr. Blackmer's fine have been turned over to the United States marshal's office in Washington," Battle said.

FLORIDAN IS HELD IN DEATH OF WOMAN

MIAMI, Fla., May 23.—(AP)—Police last night arrested Lester L. Hardin, 37, a salesman, after the body of Mrs. Allyne Kelly, 26, who recently separated from her husband, was found in a gas-filled bedroom of her apartment. Hardin was held for investigation.

Miami 'Gator Wrestler 'Throws' Big Opponent

A new kink—possibly a crinkle—in wrestling was witnessed by Atlantans Monday night when George Coppinger, of Miami, "threw" a 200-pound alligator in the swimming pool operated by R. J. Spiller adjacent to the ball park. The "fall" came when Coppinger, after seizing the alligator's jaws, wrestled about the pool until he had forced it upon a raft.

After flipping the lizard upon its back on the raft, the wrestler gave an exhibition of putting it to sleep. This was accomplished by a sort of massage of the 'gator's tummy whilst Coppinger crooned softly and, to the alligator, soothingly. The effect left the saurian senseless. The spectators were pleased. Coppinger then awoke the alligator with a guttural grunt, and the show was over. Further exhibitions will be given at 4 and 5:30 o'clock this afternoon and at 8 and 9 o'clock tonight.

Roosevelt Supporters Win in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—(AP)—The democratic city committee which favors the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt for president and is headed by County Commissioner John O'Donnell, was recognized by the democratic state committee today as the official party organization in Philadelphia.

Recognition came at the city committee's annual meeting from Warren Van Dyke, of Harrisburg, elected chairman of the state committee last week at a meeting marked by the routing of the anti-Roosevelt forces led by former State Chairman John R. Collins.

The other democratic city committee, of which Thomas A. Logue is chairman, is expected to hold a rump meeting shortly.

This committee had been recognized by the old democratic state organization since 1928 and had opposed the Roosevelt candidacy in the preference primary last month.

2 Prisoners Escape.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 23.—(AP)—The prison bureau today said Herbert Thompson and Dalon Darby, state convicts, escaped from a prison camp near Jacksonville yesterday.

Colorful Drill and Review Staged by Marist Students As Military Phase of School's Commencement Program

SENATE RECEIVES NEW RELIEF BILLS

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—How best to deal with the needy unemployed was pondered in the three cardinal points of the legislative compass today as a compromise was sought between the relief plans of the president and those that have been presented by democrats in the two houses of congress.

President Hoover's rejection of proposals for a gigantic public works bond issue drew sharp attack in the senate. Two relief proposals were brought forward there, one calling for a $5,000,000,000 bond issue for public works.

In the house, independents planned a meeting for Thursday night to devise a plan to "give immediate help in the form of public works and direct relief to the homeless and starving."

Contending that President Hoover was leaving the unemployed "no alternative except starvation and revolt," Senator Cutting, republican, New Mexico, introduced a bill calling for a $5,000,000,000 public works program.

He estimated his bill would provide work directly for 2,000,000 men for a year at $5 a day and give indirect employment to 6,000,000 more.

In addition, Senator Lewis, democrat, Illinois, offered a new plan for economic recovery, proposing revision of war debts on the basis of present-day prices and payment of the intergovernmental obligations in commodities.

Lewis proposed that the United States should allocate its purchases abroad among the debtor nations and credit their deliveries against the debts.

Senator Barbour, republican, New Jersey, introduced a bill to increase the capitalization of the Reconstruction Corporation by $1,500,000,000 for self-liquidating loans, and a senate commerce subcommittee approved a gigantic bond issue for river and harbor improvements.

A miniature version of West Pont's annual promenade and diploma award was viewed by spectators at Marist College Monday, when the military graduation exercises and annual spring review and promenade were held. In the top picture are Lieutenant Bill Holland and Miss Frances Lattimer receiving warrant certificates, while at the bottom are (left to right) Captain Bob Jones, Miss Deas Smith, Major Billy Ginn and Miss Emily Smith. Miss Deas Smith was sponor of Company A, while Mis Emily Smith was sponsor for the battalion. Staff photo by Bill Mason.

Military graduation exercises were held at Marist College Monday afternoon, featured by various drills of companies, squads and battalions, as well as by a review and a promenade of young women friends of individual cadets and company and battalion sponsors.

The exercises, which were held on Marist campus and parade ground, constituted only the military phase of this year's graduation ceremonies, the regular commencement exercises to be held at the Atlanta Woman's Club on June 3. The drills were under the direction of Major Eugene R. E. Schmidt, military commandant of the college, and were witnessed by a large crowd of spectators.

Company A was awarded the medal for the best-drilled unit of the occasion, and the distinction was presented to Cadet Captain Bob Jones, of that company. Major Billy Ginn is commander of the battalion in which the winning company is included.

Following the review and presentation of warrants to officers and noncommissioned officers, the cadets and their girl friends staged a promenade around the reviewing stands.

COURT TO SUGGEST HINES' SUCCESSOR

From a list of three or four names to be submitted by the supreme court, Governor Russell is expected this week to pick a successor to the late Associate Justice James K. Hines.

Practically all other business had to be suspended by the governor Monday to hear delegations, read telegrams and letters indorsements of more than a score of lawyers and judges who have been proposed for the place.

However, he found time to hold a conference with five members of the court, including his father, Chief Justice Richard B. Russell Sr. He had announced, at his 11 o'clock press conference, that he thought the justices better qualified than anyone else to pass upon the new justice.

The name of Judge R. C. Bell, of the court of appeals, continued to be the most prominently discussed and, if he is given the appointment, it is believed Judge G. Ogden Persons, of Forsyth, would be elevated to the court of appeals.

New names urged upon the governor Monday, included Benjamin E. Pierce and Hamilton Phinizy, of Augusta; Judge J. Saxton Daniel, of Claxton, resident judge of the Atlantic circuit; Albert Little, of Valdosta, and D. M. Parker, of Waycross. Parker has been indorsed by the bar of Waycross.

There was a revival of interest in legislative politics with the announcement, made at LaGrange, that Frank P. Longley will offer as a candidate for the general assembly this time.

Longley has served four times as one of the representatives from Troup county, although not consecutively. His first service was in 1896.

Longley is the fifth veteran to announce for the legislature within the past week. B. S. Miller, of Muscogee, and W. W. Mundy, of Polk, are two of the "old timers" expected to return for the 1933 session. Ernest M. Davis, of Mitchell, and J. W. Culpepper, of Fayette, war horses who have been in continuous service, are expected to be sent back.

Judge Lucien P. Goodrich, of Griffin, Monday became the 28th to qualify formally for the September primary when he paid his entrance fee and filed as a candidate for the court of appeals vacancy brought bout by the retirement of Judge O. B. B. Bloodworth.
